A distinctively global, integrative and personal learning experience

Global Perspective

Integrated Learning

Personal Attention

What are the core values that make Arcadia University distinctive—the values that persuade students to choose Arcadia over its competitors and to remain at the University through graduation? Arcadia's commitment to students includes opportunities to explore global perspectives, integrate theory with real world experiences, and benefit from the personal attention that is the hallmark of Arcadia's learning community. Through impressive collaboration, the Arcadia campus community has distilled the University's traditional strengths and values into a document called The Arcadia University Promise.

The Arcadia Promise affirms that students will have a distinctively global, integrative and personal learning experience that prepares them to contribute and prosper in a diverse and dynamic world.

The Arcadia Promise sums up the collective experiences of generations of alumni and the collective efforts of the faculty and staff who create Arcadia's distinguished learning environment. Arcadia students are challenged to achieve their full potential and recognize their ability and responsibility to make choices that affect the future of their world. Whether they pursue an undergraduate, graduate or continuing education path, they are part of a mutually supportive community. Through interactions with faculty, staff and peers representing a diversity of cultural backgrounds, they gain self-confidence and respect for others, learn by using the latest technologies, and acquire essential skills and knowledge that prepare them for a rich and meaningful life.
Dear Arcadia Students,

Greetings from beautiful Paris! I don't know about the rest of you, but my Spring Break has been magnificent, or as they say here, tres magnifique! After spending the first part of the week sampling the beautiful sights and wonderful cuisine of Italy during Italy Preview with some of our first-year transfer students, I arrived here in Paris to formalize the agreement with the American Graduate School of International Relations and Diplomacy. The faculty here will be offering an Arcadia University master's degree in international relations and diplomacy. I'm really excited about this program because it's expanding Arcadia's global reach even further! Ben Franklin would have enjoyed the linkage with Paris, I think. Though I'm having a great time over here, I miss all of you greatly, particularly my wife, Terry, who's on London Preview with more of our first-year students. Can't wait to see everyone's pictures! I suspect we've all taken enough to fill up an entire yearbook of memories!

See you soon,

President Jerry Greiner
1. Spain
In developing its programs in Spain, Arcadia strives to provide students with a variety of choices, in culturally distinct regions of Spain, while ensuring that academic quality remains paramount.

2. New Zealand
Arcadia's programs at the University of Otago, the University of Auckland, and Victoria University of Wellington, provide an opportunity for you to experience all of these unique aspects of New Zealand culture.

3. Italy
One hallmark of all Arcadia programs in Italy is that they are each located in the center of Italy's most vibrant cities: Rome, Florence and Pisa.

4. Greece
Studies are based in Athens, a vibrant metropolis that is distinguished by a modern city center full of commercial enterprise and residential neighborhoods that retain a village-like atmosphere.

5. Ireland
With ten programs in Ireland, eight in the Republic and two in Northern Ireland, at universities in large cities like Dublin, or Belfast, and smaller towns like Galway, there are plenty of options available.

6. China
Coming Spring 2007, the program recognizes the value of China as a study abroad destination both because of the country's importance as a world power and because of the vast cultural and artistic treasures of a nation boasting four thousand years of civilization.

7. Wales
Arcadia offers two programs in Wales, Swansea in the south or Bangor in the north. Each city and institution has a distinct culture and physical environment.

8. Equatorial Guinea
Through intensive coursework and extensive field study, the program aims to cultivate an appreciation for tropical ecosystems and their preservation as part of the development and economic growth.

9. Australia
With seventeen programs in nine different cities and universities ranging from 2,500 to 40,000 students as well as internship programs, there is an Arcadia program that will match your academic and cultural learning objectives.

10. England
Arcadia offers you twenty-one programs in England, nineteen during the academic year and two in summer. All of these will provide you with a quality education while expanding your cultural learning and allowing you to explore England.

11. Scotland
Any one of Arcadia's six programs begin with orientation in Edinburgh and then can continue on to Stirling, Glasgow, Aberdeen or the Scottish Parliament.

As the years progress, Arcadia is ever increasing its global perspective for the entire campus community. More study abroad options arise and new languages can even be learned here in Glenside. This genuine drive for a global perspective is what served as inspiration for this year's Enthymion Yearbook.
Greetings from

FACULTY & STAFF
Arcadia's faculty, staff and administration are like few others. The promised personal attention is manifested in the facts. The average class size is 16 and the student-to-faculty ratio has stayed at 12:1 even with the growth in recent years. Unlike similar schools, no graduate or teaching assistants teach in the classroom. As far as qualifications, 89% of faculty members hold doctorate or terminal degrees in their fields. Concerning staff and administration, the first-name basis and long hours spent on campus serve as a testament to their commitment.

Best Wishes!

Greetings From

Campus Life
At Arcadia, residential students are guaranteed housing for all 4 years. The breakdown is 75% residential students and 25% commuters. There is no “First-year Residence Hall.” With the exception of Knight Hall and the apartments, all residence halls have a mix of first-year, sophomores, juniors and seniors. All traditional residence halls are co-ed by wing and floor and no single-sex buildings exist anymore. This marked the first year that Thomas Hall was officially co-ed.

Arcadia’s students reach beyond the Glenside campus to places around the world. Arcadia has been a leader in study abroad since 1948 when it was one of the first American institutions to take undergraduate students to Europe to study for credit. Center for Education Abroad was founded in 1965 and currently serves nearly 3,000 students each year from over 300 North American colleges and universities.

Best Wishes!
Apartment Assistants
Supervised by Catherine Mattingly, these ladies of the apartments had to pave the way in a relatively new position. Only existing for two years, AAAs have much the same duties as the RAs on campus proper.

Commuter Assistants
With Dian Taylor-Aleyne as the advisor, the CAs again had to tackle the task of reaching out to a population that does not live on campus. The result was some great programs and even greater bonds.

Dilworth, Keinz and Knight Staff
Lead by Nick Lucenko, the DKH staff came together to handle several obstacles this year including Herk West making the move to Oak Summit in the Spring and the majority of the upperclassmen left on campus proper.

Castle, Kistler and Thomas Staff
Under the guidance of Rebecca Adams, the CKT had to assimilate changes as well including a learning community of first-year students in the Castle and Thomas changing into a co-ed residence hall.
The Campus Life Staff works to keep the campus connected.

Starting with a two-week training session in August and never ending throughout the year, all of these students seek to learn new ways to keep the campus connected, safe and aware. Through the training, bonding, laughing, crying, late nights, early mornings, long meetings, eating, and finding new ways residents and commuters find ways to cause trouble, these students become leaders among their peers.
The lucky first year Castle residents participated in a new program proving that a learning community can also be fun.

On a campus like Arcadia's, it's easy to find something fun to do. Whether it's a club-sponsored event or just a spontaneous social event, a small community like Arcadia affords everyone the chance to get to know different people. As a student leader, so many opportunities arise to plan events and bring new things to campus. Through the tireless efforts of such people, in the excess of 8,000 people are entertained, educated and brought together every year. With a campus that's only about 2,000 clearly there are some repeat offenders!

Best Wishes!
New Student Orientation is a long-standing tradition that allows first-year students several days of getting acquainted with each other and the campus before the upperclassmen return.

Preparations for Orientation start well before the arrival of any first-year students. The Orientation Planning Executive Committee (OPEC) begins their organizing as early as the October of the preceding year. Orientation Leaders (OLs) join in the planning and preparations in mid-spring semester.

A lot of training and fun goes into the execution of any New Student Orientation. Educational sessions, community service sites, food, Toner Sound, T-Shirt colors and designs, Dave Binder - all of these things and more must be considered.

When the opening day of campus draws near members of the athletic teams and Campus Life staff also join the OLs and OPEC to collectively make the Welcome Team. This year the Welcome Team encouraged all to "Take Root... Branch Out" in hopes for a good start to a good year.

Welcome Week

Starting back to school can be a stressful and fun time. For this year's first week back from Wednesday, August 31st to Saturday, September 10th, Student Activities made sure that campus experienced more of the latter. The week's activities included an All-Campus Twister Tournament, Activities Fair to raise interest in clubs, the Personascards Guy, Real World Cast Presents: Freshman Experience with Brad Fiorenza and Cameren Eubanks, a Video Dance Party, a Welcome Back Carnival, "The Disarmed" Coffeehouse, Plug and Play Gaming Event and "The Longest Yard" as a Drive-In movie on the soccer field.

A variety of clubs and organizations worked to make this week as fun and successful as possible for all who gathered at the events. With their involvement, programming this year started off with a bang.
The 18th annual College Day on the Parkway was held on Saturday, September 24th and offered college students free admission to 11 participating cultural institutions. Presented by the City of Philadelphia, its goal is to encourage and expose students to the wealth of arts and culture available in Philadelphia.

In addition to the opportunity to experience art, history, and science exhibitions for free, students are invited to enter a drawing for prizes that include movie passes and dinners at popular area restaurants. Raffle tickets, available at every College Day site, must be stamped by at least three institutions and returned to the last site visited.

Students are also invited to travel down the closed section of Benjamin Parkway, full of vendors dying to give students free stuff and information about new TV shows, products, radio shows and much more. College Day on the Parkway always offers an amazing amount of fun and free goodies.
Mid-October brings the promise of autumn, leaves turning, the wind chilling and some students yearning for some family time. Another tradition, Family Weekend invites grandparents, parents, siblings and loved ones the opportunity to visit Arcadia students and enjoy programming planned with families in mind.

This year Family Weekend was held Friday, October 14th through Sunday, October 16th and as usual was sponsored by the Office of Student Activities.

A big activity was a carnival with tables run by clubs that had visitors doing everything from arts and crafts to dress-up to games of skill. The Personacards Guy, bowling, monster basketball and a balloon artist were also available to entertain the masses.

Other activities included Casino Night held in the Castle, a bus trip to Philadelphia, invites for loved ones to attend classes and academic events, and a showing of the movie "Madagascar!"

Saturday brought the many talents of Mike Super, magician, illusionist and comic, sponsored by SPB. He wowed the crowd in Stiteler Auditorium with his charm, levitation, card tricks, voo-doo, telepathy and ability to change the weather.

The entire weekend was one of fun, quality time and memories.
Mr. Beaver

Indiana Jones
portrayed by first-year Aaron Marouche and escorted by leading lady, Carrie Beltran.

Beyoncé
portrayed by sophomore Jason Ford and escorted by friend Kelli Rowland, Britany McCall.

Little Orphan Annie portrayed by first-year Dave Teeter and escorted by Daddy Warbucks, Natalie Good.

Bob Barker
portrayed by junior Rudy Vidal and escorted by Barker Beauty, Erica Gregory.

Hem Woes
portrayed by junior Jonathan Grau and escorted by Dark Lord Helen Dwyer.

Pamela Anderson
portrayed by first-year Brannen Boshman and escorted by David Hasselhoff, Diana Ruffo.

Mr. Beaver celebrated its 27th year on Saturday, October 22nd. The annual SPB sponsored event was in the hands of co-chairs Chadd Babii and Michelle White and they certainly worked with their committee to make a memorable event.

Adam Ace served as Master of Ceremonies and kept the crowd energetic and laughing. He commented on the contestants as well as brought up members of the audience to learn how to dance and sing, resulting in quite a show for all.

The contestants also did an amazing job of keeping the crowd involved in the happenings on stage. There were several first-year contestants this year, which resulted in a new type of show with more emphasis on personalities.

In the end, Indiana Jones took home the crown with Beyoncé taking second and Little Orphan Annie placing third.
The Winner

2005
Philthy Phanatic at the Puerto Rican Day Parade. Some of the Allies pinned on October 22nd.
1. November 17th brought the rich traditions and flavors of Celebrating Cultures.

2. Sukkot, a Jewish holiday, was celebrated October 18th and commemorates the forty years of wandering in the desert. It is also a harvest festival.

3. Arcadia joined in the national outreach to victims of Hurricane Katrina. Professors Deborah Pomeroy and Ruthanne Rust donated a RV and drove down to Louisiana with a load full of donations from Arcadia.

5. October 22nd was the pinning ceremony for students who volunteered to become Alies of the Lesbian Gay Bi and Transgender Community.

6. A great November tradition, Empty Bowl gives students the chance for a good meal and to give to the less fortunate.

7. Comedian Rich Ramirez was one of several events during October’s Hispanic Heritage Month.

Arcadia encourages the entire campus to act responsibly and accept all cultural heritages. With many international students and a global focus in the curriculum, Arcadia has taken many active steps to promote a safe and welcoming environment for all.

Between the many cultural and service clubs on campus, there are students, faculty and staff who set the example of community service and open-minded education concerning a wide variety of groups and areas.

Programs such as open mic nights, awareness events, education series and religious observances allow all students the opportunity to experience cultures other than their own.

Without the support and encouragement of the campus, diverse students may not feel comfortable enough to attend this University but because of the outstanding openness, the general campus is accepting of all groups and their programs.

RHC's Masquerade Ball is always a treat to attend. The Castle provides the perfect backdrop and the little extra touches of spider webs and grave stones make it that much more spooky.

Whether or not Arcadia's ghostly residents are in attendance, the students always manage to have fun coming up with original costumes. This year Napoleon Dynamite, Barbie, a mouseketeer, a full ER of nurses, Raggedy Ann and Andy, some Mean Girls, Mr. Incredible, Daisy Duke, a fat lady, William Wallace and many more were all there.

The October event is always held in the Castle. With the dancing in the Grand Hall, food in the Rose Room, and relaxation in the Mirror Room it proves to be the perfect venue for the Halloween event.

Dancing to everything from "Thriller" to "Lively Lady Lumps," Arcadia students always turn out for dances whether or not they have to pay the $3 admission as with the Masquerade Ball.

Knight Madness

RHC ran Knight Madness for the first time on Thursday, November 3rd. From 10 p.m. until midnight there were games, music, lots of prizes, some Knight Club performances, cheerleading stunts, dancing from spectators and a congratulations to the successes of the Fall sports to that point including the PAC final women's soccer team.

The student versus faculty/staff basketball game was a riot to watch as the younger generation took home the older generation and then joined in singing the losers' karoke song "Save a Horse, Ride a Cowboy." A few very spirited students dressed up with as much school pride as they could muster and rallied the crowd behind them.

The obstacle course allowed the winner to pie Area Coordinator Nick Ludhko in the face much to the joy of any judicals.

At midnight the lights went out and both the women's and men's basketball teams were announced, doing tricks for the crowd. In the end, there was enough school spirit to carry over for the rest of the semester.
Knight Club Performance

Knight Club held their Fall Show on December 2nd and 4th in Stieteler Auditorium. It was the first show on the newly constructed Stieteler stage and made a difference to those sitting in the back for their moves could be seen. The members began preparing back in September when they started their countless conditioning hours coinciding with weekly rehearsals, and learning the routines that would be performed for almost 400 people each day.

This fall's spectacular featured twenty-five short performances ranging from classical ballet and tap, to modern jazz, hip-hop and even a salsa group. The hip-hop and salsa routines featured the most members on the stage at a time, and the seven set long Hip-Hop Act was clearly a crowd favorite. This show even invited in guest performers Puro Ritmo (Pure Rhythm), a subdivision from the Arcadia Latino Association in their reggaeton, merenage and salsa performances.
The third annual Frost Fest took place Friday, December 9th just before the start of quiet hours. SPB started the program as a way for students to relax before the start of Fall semester finals. Even though snow canceled school for the day, it did not cancel the event or scare away the crowd. This year there were two groups, Toothpick and Impulse. Toothpick was supposed to perform with his band but they got snowed in so he relied on his charm and soft rock-rapping talent to get him through his set. By the sounds of the crowd it worked. But the reaction he got was nothing compared to the energy and love felt for Impulse. The 4-man acapella group wowed the crowd with their classically trained voices and boyish good looks. All in all, the event allowed students to forget about the stress of finals and relax for some good music in the Chat.
The Student Alumni Ambassadors (SAA) held their annual Coffeehouse on November 4th. (The first coffeehouse at Arcadia, back in the days of Beaver, and is the only one to still serve coffee.) The show featured bands, solo singers/songwriters, pianists and poets, Arcadia students, friends, and professors. The tables were even covered with paper so people could draw on them.

The Coffeehouse opened and closed with campus bands, first Haydren's Wall with sophomore Mike Newsman on lead guitar and vocals. The show closed with sophomore Dave Craig's band Phoenix Dawn, who gave an exhilarating performance.
Officially not having a football team, Homecoming Weekend has always been non-existent for Arcadia students. Then some students lead by Sonya Costa and Campus Activities Programmer Julie Kirschner made a dream come true for many - the dream of playing American football on the soccer field.

The November 11th weekend started with a football-themed dance sponsored by SFB, where school supplies could be donated to Hurricane Katrina victims.

Saturday brought the tournament with about ten teams competing for a trophy and the chance to be Arcadia Flag Football Champions.

Sunday was the powderpuff game with juniors versus seniors (the juniors won).

Monday concluded the weekend with the showing of the Eagles-Cowboys game in the Chat.

The mission of Arcadia Theatre is to provide our students and the community with a season of productions that demonstrate the rigorous four-year sequence of course studies in the theatre program at Arcadia University.

RHC Spring Cotillion
The Spring Fling events started on Thursday, April 20th, with the RHC sponsored Lip Sync. This year’s winners were Knight Club “Boots” in first place, Liquid Dreams in second, and Knight Club “Battle of the Sexes” in 3rd.

The Junior Class proved unbeatable, winning Arcadia’s first jelly tug-of-war contest, sponsored by SAA, that kicked off the Blitz events on Friday, April 21.

Blitz was held in the Alumni Gymnasium and featured large inflatables, club organized crafts and activities, and a “Welcome to the Jungle” theme.

Saturday & Sunday

This year's Woodstock featured the bands Al Star, Sunday Driver, Fooling Gravity, and Fooling April. There was a vast selection of things to do during the band breakdown setups. People had the choice of getting their adrenaline pumped up as they prepared to take on the 20' Velcro Wall or they could challenge a rival to see who could conquer the man-eating sharks and stranded floats of the Treasure of the Caribbean obstacle course. The day ended with the Woodstock Video Dance featuring a 15' screen with the video playing to each song that was played.

Sunday's Day of Percussion was a new addition to the list of Spring Fling events with two musical groups, Impulse and Recycled Percussion. Impulse is a four-man acapella group that incorporates soloists with vocal percussion using only their mouths and microphones and singing anything from pop to country to Queen's fat bottom girls. Recycled Percussion is a group of three drummers and a DJ who make mind-blowing percussion out of sinks, pipes, buckets, trashcans, canisters, jack hammers and a jaw-dropping routine using three ladders. Both groups were a lot of fun to watch and made a great ending to the Spring Fling Weekend.
In March, Arcadia welcomed distinguished speaker, Carol Gilligan, an American feminist ethicist and psychologist, who spoke about the role of women in creating a sustainable world.

Among the many spring events were a visit from author, Carol Gilligan, Vagina Monologues performances, Student Leadership & Club Night, and Late Night Breakfast.

CLUBS & ORGANIZATIONS
Arcadia has more than 40 student clubs and organizations and new ones can easily be created with the help of the Student Activities Office. These can change based upon semester and student interest. Although there are no formal non-academic fraternities or sororities on campus, for the first time in a long time the debate was brought up this year. A special task force comprised of staff and students from all sides of the argument was formed. Recommendations from the three main student governing bodies needed to be made. Debates were brought up in Student Government Organization, Residence Hall Council and the Commuter Student Association. As of the end of the year, students seemed to vote them down, but an official University stance will come from the Board of Trustees.

Best Wishes!
The clubs and organizations listed on these pages were registered as active in 2005-2006 through the Student Activities Office.

PEERS was founded to educate and inform the Arcadia University community about issues related to the use and abuse of alcohol and other drugs, as well as other important issues facing college students today. Through formal programming, discussions, and educational and social activities, the group's goal is to promote awareness and discussion of these issues.

We, a group of actively involved individuals at Arcadia University, are striving to increase the involvement of commuter students so that every student, whether resident or commuter, can receive the whole university experience, rather than the academic experience exclusively. Our goals are to help bridge the gap between residential and commuter students by providing opportunities for the two groups to meet and interact and to serve as a liaison and resource to assist commuter students at Arcadia University who wish to play an active role in the community.

The purpose of Rotaract is to provide an opportunity for students to enhance the knowledge and skills that will assist them in personal development, to address the physical and social needs of their communities, and to promote better relations between all people worldwide through a framework of friendship and service. Members of Rotaract engage in service activities on a local and global level.

Rotaract Club has been recognized for efforts outside the Arcadia community.

The CSA is always looking for fun ways to get commuters' attention.
International Club

This club is organized to welcome international students in the Arcadia University community; to promote understanding of other cultures; to provide opportunities for both American and international students to interact and to learn to recognize and accept one another as individuals; and to sponsor activities to encourage the realization of the above-mentioned aims; and to provide additional opportunities for the international students to practice their conversational English and to learn about American customs.

APC Radio Club

The Arc is a non-profit radio station operated for Arcadia University. It broadcasts music, news, and sports, provides entertainment, public information of interest to the students of Arcadia University, and provides a forum for intellectual discussions.

Student Programming Board

SPB strives to provide events that meet the social, educational and cultural needs of the diverse university community while offering various opportunities for student involvement and leadership.
Every semester, SPB holds a retreat to bond and to make goals.

International Club's Celebrating Cultures won Educational Program of the Year from Student Activities and has also become a student favorite tradition.

Formerly WBVR, ARC, Arcadia's Radio Club came back strong this year.

SPB has to do a lot of behind-the-scenes work for their events, even if it's making cookies.

ARC broadcasted live from several events this year on their internet radio site.
Arcadia Christian Fellowship
Arcadia Christian Fellowship, an inter-denominational Christian ministry to college students, is part of a worldwide organization. As an active group on campus, we hold weekly gatherings featuring speakers on various topics, as well as other events. We also provide several small groups that study different topics and books of the Bible. We participate in week-long and weekend conferences and retreats with other area colleges and universities. We offer many opportunities for students to come and ask questions about God as well as opportunities to learn and grow in faith in God. All interested Arcadia students are welcome to attend.

Arcadia Special Athletes Association
The Arcadia Special Athletes Association (ASAA) aims to promote a stronger awareness and interest in exceptional individuals in the community. The organization will provide the opportunity to become involved with individuals who are exceptional through special athletics and social events.

Kollel
The name of the organization is B'Nai B'rith Hillel Foundation of Arcadia University. The purpose of Hillel is to provide various aspects of Jewish culture and life to interested students in the university community. Arcadia University Hillel is a part of Multi Campus Hillel, a unique Jewish organization which brings together college students from eleven universities in the greater Philadelphia area. Through the college network, students have the opportunity to come together and explore Jewish life by participating in social, educational and cultural programs. Events are planned and implemented by student committees and have immense potential.

Gargoyle Literary Magazine

Gargoyle's purpose is the creation of a publication showcasing the creative literary and visual works of the Arcadia University community. The main activities of the organization will be the solicitation, gathering and compiling of works from the University. A publication displaying these works will be created either once or twice annually. In addition, the club may sponsor activities to enrich the literary community of the institution. Any Arcadia student, faculty or staff member may submit work to the magazine for publication.

Student Alumni Ambassadors

The purposes of SAA are to stimulate the interest of undergraduate students in the service and advancement of Arcadia University and to further the feeling of loyalty and fellowship among the University, students and alumni. SAA shall provide such services and programs as it sees fit in the exercise of these purposes. SAA assists the Alumni Office with the programs and services it offers to Arcadia University alumni.

The Equestrian Club provides students interested in horseback riding with a chance to engage in the following activities: ride for pleasure, receive professional instruction and compete in intercollegiate horse shows. Membership is open to all interested students.

Cheerleading Knights promote spirit throughout the campus community. They cheer for both men's and women's basketball and will be competing for the first time this year.
Effective August 1, 2007, the presidents of the Middle Atlantic States Collegiate Athletic Corporation (MASCAC) have voted unanimously to offer membership to Arcadia University in the Freedom and Middle Atlantic Conferences. "Arcadia University is pleased to be a new member of the MASCAC. Membership in the MASCAC allows us to expand our recruiting visibility to a broader geographic region as our student-athletes compete with others from institutions of high academic caliber," says Arcadia President Jerry M. Greiner.
Congratulations to all the 2005-2006 Teams

Seniors
Roughly 30+ classes, at least 128 credits and countless amounts of trips to Wawa and here we are. We are no longer seniors, we are graduates. The Class of 2006, with our class identity, football cheers, willingness to ask for more and only settling when it's on an option we chose. This section of the book is for you. Pages that capture a minute fraction of what it means to be a senior at Arcadia University. From Scotland or London to the Kuch gym, remember it all and take it with you wherever you go.

Best Wishes!
As I write this letter, I have enjoyed many of the spring traditions along side you for the past two, three or four years. I have seen many of you smile and actually understand some of your tears as well. Individually and collectively you have made your mark on this campus in many wonderful ways. You have energized others, started new organizations, supported your peers and inspired those who will follow in your footsteps. I have had the wonderful pleasure of being at this institution for the past 17 years. Each year around this time, I struggle to think about how the next group of leaders will fill the shoes of those who are graduating. How will those juniors and sophomores know to step in and make a difference as the group they are following did? This year is no exception. I am already looking forward to the 2011 reunion when you will come back and I hope you are still here. I do mean CLASS. I am already looking forward to the 2011 reunion when you will fill me in on how you are doing. Please do. Call, email, and by all means come back to visit often. Arcadia is a special place because of the people who are part of it. It is a better place because you joined us and have been an integral part of this outstanding community. Thank you for deciding to be a member of the Arcadia University community. Thank you for your contribution to the Arcadia legacy.

London Preview offers students an opportunity to visit a major world capital for only $245. This includes air and ground transportation, hostel accommodation and programmed activities. The trip is designed to be fun and educational. Students get to visit the theatre, historic sites, cathedrals, museums, neighborhoods, and more. There is also plenty of free time where students can explore till they drop! Some favorite sights include the London Eye, St. Paul's Cathedral, Tower of London & Tower Bridge, Buckingham Palace, Big Ben, Abbey Road, and so much more it's hard to fit it all in one week. During its inaugural year in 1994 there were 140 student participants; in 2003, 250 students went on the London Preview.
Buckingham Palace

Buckingham Palace is the official London residence of the British monarch. The Palace is a setting for state occasions and royal entertaining, a base for all officially visiting Heads of State, and a major tourist attraction.

Abbey Road

Abbey Road runs through the suburb of St. John's Wood. As a result of its association with The Beatles, this section of Abbey Road has been featured on the London tourism circuit. The zebra crosswalk featured on the Beatles cover has become a popular photo-op area.

London Eye

The British Airways London Eye is the first-built and largest observation wheel in the world standing 135 metres (443 feet) high on the South Bank of the River Thames.
Due to the popularity of the Preview and the large size of the Class of 2006, a Scotland Preview for 50 students was added. Like London Preview, the cost of the trip was $245, including air and ground transportation, hostel accommodation and programmed activities. Some of the possible sites to be seen on Scotland Preview are the Historic city of Edinburgh and its castle, the coastal city of St. Andrews, Firth of Forth Activities Center on the Shores of Loch Tay, and the Glasgow School of Art.

Students also get to experience authentic Scottish culture such as a Haggis meal, Whiskey tasting, and a traditional dance celebration called a ceilidh.
ST is a celebration that starts the Senior’s countdown to Graduation.

The Alumni Fund Walk of Pride is an exquisite pedestrian walkway constructed of interlocking paving stones, suitable for engraving. The Alumni Fund Walk of Pride begins at the Grey Towers Castle, winds past the Weising Well and ends at newly renovated Dining Hall Complex. Located at the very center of Arcadia’s campus and created to complement the surroundings and grounds, this walkway offers a unique opportunity to recognize Arcadia University’s loyal alumni. Now, and for decades to come, alumni can be a visible part of the daily life on campus by inscribing their names on one of the walkway’s pavers. Alumni who have not yet celebrated their fifth reunion are invited to purchase pavers on the Alumni Fund Walk of Pride through the Senior Class Challenge Program. All these young alumni have to do is make consecutive annual gifts to the Alumni Fund. If their gifts total $125 by the fifth reunion, they will automatically qualify for an inscribed paver.

While at Arcadia, you have been challenged to achieve your full potential and recognize your ability and responsibility to make choices that affect the future of your world. Through interactions with faculty, staff and peers representing a diversity of cultural backgrounds, you have gained self-confidence and respect for others, learned by using the latest technologies, and acquired essential skills and knowledge that have prepared you for a rich and meaningful life,” said Lois Haber, Chair of Arcadia’s Board of Trustees, in welcoming the graduates to two ceremonies, one for master’s candidates on May 18 and one for bachelor’s candidates on May 19.

One-third of the bachelor’s recipients have studied abroad in one of 18 countries, including Australia, Italy, China and Greece. Master’s candidates have studied in countries such as Tanzania, Northern Ireland, the Czech Republic and Spain.
Amber LaJeunesse, President of the Class of 2006, needed more than visual aids or Power Point to show off the class gift to the University at the Undergraduate Commencement on May 19. And even without a white horse to ride in on, the gift made a dazzling display in its shining armor. The suit of armor, to be inhabited by future generations of students, is Arcadia's new "mascot." He'll (or she'll) be available to cheer on fellow Arcadia Knights and welcome new students to Arcadia.

College passes so quickly. Before we know it the exams, the 5 chapters we still haven’t read, the fights, the memories all get stored away. We can only imagine how quickly it passes for those who love us and have watched us grow. From our first step to our walk across the stage. From our first word to our first apartment. Our loved ones support us in an infinite amount of ways - financially, physically and emotionally. Good Luck to grads and thanks to their supporters!

Best Wishes!
Dear Katie,

We are very proud of your work at Arcadia University! You had the opportunity to study abroad and certainly did! Your passport didn’t ever get dusty!

Congratulations on your achievements in the fields of Mathematics and Chemistry!

We love you!

Mom, Dad, Scott and Luke

Dear Janine,

Right before our eyes the crying little First Grader who didn’t want to go to school has grown into a remarkable young woman anxious to start her teaching career. We are all very proud of you and all of your accomplishments. Good luck in the future and we hope that all your dreams come true. May you touch the lives of your students the way your teachers have touched yours.

We Love You Very Much,
Mom, Dad, Ali, John

You embraced the challenge and gained success. May all your accomplishments be the building blocks to a future filled with hope, alive with passion and the realization of your dreams. Wishing you God’s best always,

Love Mum, Dad, Jessica, Ben and Elca.
Dear Faith, You have always been our shining star. Your accomplishments on the ice and in the gym combine with your academic excellence. We are so proud of you. Love, Mom, Dad and Matt

It seems like yesterday that you had your “first graduation.” You were beautiful then and you have only continued to be more so. Congratulations on this wonderful achievement. I love you “best in the world.”
A stellar performance, Miss Courtney! From your glowing grades to co-founding The Knight Club; from your induction into Psi Chi Honor Society to performance after amazing performance in every dance show; from such creative choreography to your work with needy children at Wordsworth; from making it there and back by yourself to a country so far away that when we called, it was tomorrow, to phone calls from there complete with your most entertaining Australian bird call imitations – all have been such a pleasure to share with you! Continue enjoying life and using your gifts wisely.

God bless & Much love,

Mommy, Daddy, Jerzy, Jamie + Nana (and of course, Schnitzel)
Dearest Gia,

What an adventure awaits you! Relish it, embrace it, "follow your bliss"!
May you grow in wisdom; may you find fulfillment in serving others as you serve yourself; may you love and be loved.

To you, your friends, and fellow graduates: Congratulations! A job well done!
You have been an incredible teacher, Gia, our greatest joy, and our richest treasure.
Our love always, Mom and Dad
You came into our lives, this beautiful baby girl and showed us what love truly is. All our dreams came true. We turned around and you were starting school. You were your own person, always doing your best in school and sports. All our dreams came true.

We sent you off to college, you said you wanted to become a Teacher. And before our eyes you changed from a beautiful young girl, into a beautiful, confidant, woman with hopes and dreams of her own. All our dreams came true.

Lauren we hope all the dreams you dream come true. We are so proud of you.

Love,
Dad, Mom and Dan
Erin Brandt

Congratulations Erin!
In a flash this baby gazing intently at the world has grown into an accomplished, independent young woman. The adventure has only just begun. We wish for you loyal friends, exciting travels and success in whatever path you choose. You are truly a citizen of the world, and it's yours to explore.
Love from Mum, Becca, Naaman and Grandma Elwin

Ashley Overdorff

Ashley my precious baby girl.
My years with you have gone by much too fast. Following your footsteps through life have taught me so much about myself. You would awake every day with a renewed zest for life. It seemed closing your eyes at night was such a waste of time for you.

I must now cut another apron string and share you with the world. Your enthusiasm, determination and education will offer the universe one of its most passionate, beautiful and inspiring individuals. Look out world! Take care of my baby girl!

Love, Your Mama

Sarah McNicoll

Sarah, You did it! I always knew you could. Remember, back in the day?
You, Shane and I were always together. The love we shared at that time is still there. Your accomplishment is fantastic.
love you, Ryan

If in dreams begin responsibilities then in achievements begin obligations, I don’t know what your dreams are. I would hope they are lofty but it is your responsibility
I hope they are realized you have the spark of ambition and the depth of intellect to take you most anywhere. Don't let the spark dampen nor the depth grow shallow, your first great achievement should be humbling, I would hope, again, that you now understand how much your success depends on the generosity, sacrifice and assistance of others. You should appreciate that you owe a great obligation to your mother and to Cindy and Steve for showing you up and making it possible to reach your goal, an obligation that must not be renegotiated, so, my niece, congratulations on attaining your degree, it is a fine accomplishment. I wish you many more in the future.
uncle pete

To my graduate from your mom,
I remember when you thought Arcadia University was in California. And the shock on your face when you realized it was in Pennsylvania! Now your nickname is Cali but your home is back east. Your success as a student fills me with pride. Your future burns bright with promise. You will always have my love and helping hand.

Kate Zanoni

Congratulations, Kate!
We are always proud of you, but especially now. This is just the beginning of your life’s adventures.
We’ll enjoy watching you as you keep developing your talents, learning and contributing in the world.

Sarah McNicoll

Congratulations, Sarah. Sorry, I haven't been there for you the last couple of years. We were so close as brother and sister. Our bond was unbreakable. I promise we will have that relationship again. I will make you as proud of me as I am of you. I will not be able to attend your graduation but I am sending my love and spirit to cheer you on at the ceremony. I miss you Sarah and can't wait to see you again.

Love, Shane

When nobody else believed in you, I was there. When you fell, I picked up, brushed you off and put you back on the path. I remember leaving a little girl crying to come home four years ago who changed into an East Coast gal full of confidence. You have traveled the world and expanded your horizons. For these accomplishments, only you deserve the credit. All I want is your love and happiness. Congratulations baby.

Love, Mom

Dear Sarah,

Congratulations, Sarah. We are very proud of you. You did a great job and we are sure that you will have continued success in your future endeavors.

Love, Dad and Maggie

Congratulations and my best hopes for the next stage of your life. Keep your eye on the prize.

Love Aunt Bonnie

Onward and upward dear Sarah-

Congratulations on your college degree. Best of luck in law school.

Thank you. Such small words for a wealth of sincere thoughts. I came into college thinking “Yearbook, it could be fun. I did it in high school.” Little did I know the state in which this club was left from a few years’ worth of lack of interest and dedication to making a yearly record of Arcadia happenings. It always seemed to be a no-brainer to me. Of course a college had a yearbook. Unfortunately it wasn’t that simple and it took passionate, driven, crazy people to make Enthymion Yearbook the club and Enthymion Yearbook the publication something to be proud of again.

First is Eileen, I’ve gotten comments on how I’ve revived the yearbook but it all started with Eileen Butkovic ’03. She was the Editor-in-Chief when I came in as a freshman and it was her outstanding ground work and example that let others keep the club going and growing. The task proved to be a large undertaking and when I took over as Editor-in-Chief the Spring of my freshman year, Lauren Murray ’05 joined me as Co-Editor-in-Chief. Insane times of learning, laughing, crying and friendship ensued.

Of course Meg Hine was there along the way with me. Always in the background but with never-ending source of design knowledge and a work-ethic like no other. It has been a complete, wonderful, heart-felt pleasure to work with you.

Other people have played a major role but in seemingly small ways that have nonetheless been an essential, integral part of my time with Enthymion Shera Hack, you handled the club in a tough time period but in the end it all came through Dian Taylor Alleyne and Nick Smith, you had the pleasure of being the 4th and 5th advisors in my four years here. Thank you for your support and guidance. Dr. Buesten, your pictures are all over this book and your willingness to help alleviated a lot of worry and headaches. Julie Krischner, Student Activities and I needed you more than you’ll ever know. You’ll be missed for your sense of humor, ability to calm any situation and wonderful insights. “We are surely elves making yearbook” - thanks for noticing! To the staff listed on the right, few know how much work really goes into making this book. I must every ounce of gratitude and thank you for your dedication, fun times and smiles. Especially to Amanda and Lauren - I know you will be faboules! Kevin and Jon, sometimes all I need is a good distraction or an encouraging word and even a second opinion. You’ve both been that and more!

Finally to the Arcadia community, sometimes you were receptive, sometimes you were helpful, sometimes you were grateful. But in whatever form it was communicated either positively or negatively, you were encouraging. I always love a challenge and this club is quite possibly one of the most challenging endeavors I’ve ever have. But the end product done for you by a precious few, is worth the work and struggle. The end product is in no means perfect but it is the best I could do and I know it gets better with every new book. The aim was always to take steps forward, sometimes it ended up being two steps backward and four steps forward.

Arcadia, thank you for the opportunity to grow and learn with the Enthymion Yearbook. I will never forget this experience or the people who have helped me along the way.

Megan

How can I expand on the wonderful words Megan has already said? To Eileen Butkovic,

Your hard work and dedication to the yearbook has inspired the same enthusiasm in me. It has been a privilage to be a part of breathing new life back into the yearbook and I’ve taken great pride in carrying that spirit through the past 4 years.

Lauren Murray,

You are living proof that you don’t need to be experienced to be a part of yearbook. What you lacked in the knowledge of the process you made up for with hard work and determination.

Lauren Gersten and Amanda Ewald,

We leave the Enthymion in your capable hands. We have the faith that you’ll carry it through to even greater accomplishments.

Megan Concoran,

My right hand lady. It truly has been a pleasure working with you from the begining. Our combined knowledge and compatible work ethic have come together in our final year to create an amazing book. You Rock Megan! I wish you lots of luck at Disney and everything you do.

Amber Lajuunesse,

I told you I would thank you cause you rock! Plus you have always been a great supporter of the yearbook, whether it be with pictures or words of encouragement. I also appreciate your hard work to insure that seniors had great memories for us to capture in the book. Thank you, you are awesome!

And finally...Arcadia,

How the years have gone by so quickly. I spent my whole college career creating, capturing and publishing memories. Yearbook has become such a huge part of my life that I still forget that I’m leaving, it certainly will be a time I always cherish. True, it hasn’t been all fun and games (late nights, yearbook demons, and pulling pictures from a hat) but nothing beats the satisfaction of holding a completed book in your hands. There may be only a few people who really understand and appreciate this feeling, but to those who do, this book is for you. Thank you, Arcadia, for all the friends and memories. May they follow me til the end of my days.

Love Always,

Megan

P.S. Congratulations to my fellow seniors, the past 4 years have been awesome, heres to even better times ahead. Good Luck to everyone!
The Farewell Party
~Unknown

Thank you...for all these people who have gathered to tell us good-bye.

The ones we've been so close to and the ones we've rarely seen. The ones we've liked so much and even the ones who've been sometimes hard to take.

Now, curiously, they are all dear to us as we come together for the farewell party.
Now, suddenly I see who they are in relation to us, and who we must be in relation to them.

They are the living embodiment of time and place – our time in this particular place.
They are themselves, yes, but in large or small ways they are changed because we came together. And we are changed because of them. We have interrelated; the precious gifts of our lives have touched.

And when this time is over, the parting hurts.

Friends taken for granted become strangely precious when it is time to separate.

Perhaps this is why these partings must come – to make us aware of each other, to realize our identities as characters in each other's life stories. To give us a little glimpse of who we are in the eyes of those who are our friends.

A Farewell Party – what a joy, however it hurts. What an honor. They love us enough to wish us well. "Farewell wherever you go," they are saying.

And we can only answer in kind.
“Good-bye. Fare...well.”
