Within a year, or two, or three, or four - a person sees a lot. Friends are made, surroundings change, knowledge is acquired, horizons are broadened and life keeps moving. Throughout an academic year, lessons in and outside of the classroom are abundant. It was the goal and hope of this publication that this year of sights, scenes and scopes were captured accurately and creatively. With each new year, more experience is gained and a clearer picture emerges. The Enthymion Yearbook presents its vision of 2004-2005.
A yearbook is a permanent record of the events of a given year in the history of a University. It is produced through the dedication of a staff who understands that it is important to have the ability to look back and celebrate a time that enabled you to explore the world of ideas and to define who you are and what you believe. For me, it is particularly poignant as this is the record of my first year as Arcadia’s President.

I believe, and have said in other settings, that the education you receive at Arcadia is one that is intended to prepare you to live and succeed in today’s world. This is not an idea I brought with me but one that has been a fundamental belief at the University for many years. I stress this because I believe that the foundation laid by my predecessors, as well as yours, is a strong one that has allowed us as a community to continue to thrive.

You, too, have built a foundation for your future endeavors. You began this task at birth and it has continued throughout your life. For those of you who are graduating, I sincerely believe that you have had the opportunity at Arcadia University to challenge yourself in order to find your weaknesses and strengthen them. You have been pushed to examine critically the information you are given. You are expected to be able to share your thoughts and knowledge with others. You have learned the value of discussion and debate, and of being open to the ideas of others. Most importantly, you leave with a sense of who you are and what you can do to take your place in our society. For those of you who are not finished with your education at Arcadia, I hope you will make sure you have these experiences before you graduate. It is the responsibility of faculty, staff and students to ensure that your education includes these elements.

A foundation is vital to the stability of a structure; just as a strong educational foundation is important to your success. However, you cannot stop with the foundation. You have the opportunity in all facets of your life to learn and grow. If it is appropriate to give you one piece of advice in this context, it is to recognize that while your formal schooling may end, you should never stop learning. Continue to be open to new experiences, take on new challenges and push yourself to improve yourself and your community.

I congratulate the staff of the Enthymion on their fine work and thank them on behalf of the entire community. To those leaving us this year, good luck and please keep in touch with the University. We appreciate what you have added to the community while you were here.

Sincerely,

Jerry M. Greiner
President

Q: What is the best thing about where you live?

A: I live in Trilogy and love the freedom we are given and the people in our community.
   Alyssa Jeral, '07

A: Living in Knight is a perfect place to live and be around all your friends in the same room.
   Thomas Scabba, '06

A: I don't wear shower shoes as a commuter.
   Ben Scheinfeld, '08

A: Thomas is smaller than other halls and it gives the hall a family feeling. Everyone gets along in Thomas!
   Monica Mansfield, '07 and Big Red, '07

A: I like living in the Castle. I love it! It is like being a part of history.
   Nicole Brousseau, '08

A: I live in 1600 and my favorite part of living there is my ability to parade around my apartment in my underware with total privacy. It's a lot of fun!

In the spring of 2003, the Board of Trustees of Arcadia University challenged the campus community to undertake its first comprehensive evaluation of how buildings and grounds can better support current operations and future initiatives. This challenge focused on the creation of a Campus Master Plan under the direction of a Steering Committee of faculty, staff, students and trustees. The nationally prominent firm Ayers/Saint/Gross Architects + Planners was selected to guide the process.

The plan evolved during a year-long series of meetings with campus stakeholders and members of the surrounding Cheltenham Township community, facilitated by the planning consultants. Participants analyzed complex issues and opportunities and arrived at recommendations that will allow Arcadia to grow efficiently and elegantly in support of its academic mission and the ideals of the Ten-Year Strategic Plan. Arcadia's Board of Trustees accepted the Campus Master Plan in December 2004.
Plans for Murphy and Brubaker Halls include a courtyard and elevated walkways. As this area looks today.

A new academic and student center is planned adjacent to a newly renovated Kuch Center. Currently this area is a parking lot.

Thomas Hall and other residence halls will receive major facelifts. As this hall looks today.
Arcadia University aims to prepare its students for a world of increasing interdependence and complexity. It is essential to understand the inseparable connection binding us to other economies, states and value systems. Accelerating change is an inescapable fact that offers exciting possibilities and challenges. Scientific discoveries and technological advances have altered our perception of the universe, while economic development and revolutions in communications have brought cultures into new interactions, creating a new, global society. Inevitably, our students will live and practice their professions within multiple contexts. Therefore, general education requirements play a crucial role in the overall education offered at Arcadia University. Students will be familiarized not only with one academic discipline, but with many different areas of knowledge in the contemporary world of learning.

POSSIBILITY
Over 60 programs of undergraduate study and 13 graduate degrees are offered.

RESPONSIBILITY
More than 50% of Arcadia graduates pursue graduate study programs.
NOSTALGIA
The inner drive of the campus known as the Alumni Walk of Pride was constructed in the summer of 1997.
Dear Arcadia University Students:

Congratulations to the graduates of 2005. As you embark on the next journeys of your life, I extend to each of you my sincere wishes for much success. As you entered Arcadia University we were making the transition to a new phase of our history as an institution. Now as you celebrate your commencement, it is evident what a difference a few years can make — to individuals and on a broader level for the University.

Each class takes with it individual and collective memories. As you reflect on your Arcadia years, this treasury should help remind you of special people, places and experiences. Each person has enriched this place and leaves a special mark — one that forever changes everyone else. As you face and accept your next challenges, take time to appreciate those who have helped build and guide your journey during this one, including your family, the faculty, the staff, and your friends. Take time to consider how important your expectations and relationships are to your success. As you do, be sure that in the next phase of your life you clarify your expectations and build new relationships.

Keeping in mind the strength of the Arcadia University community, please remember us. Remember the friends, the late nights and the fun; remember the faculty and the early morning classes or rigorous expectations; and, remember the opportunities you have had to positively influence others, and keep finding ways to do that. You have made this place stronger by being responsible individuals and by respecting our campus community. Combined efforts to enhance this community and develop life-long friendships will stay with you as you take the next significant steps in your life. Appreciate that the world is your front yard, and make the most of your Arcadia foundation as you explore new places around the globe.

I wish you each a wonderful career. As you make your next transition and become a member of the Arcadia Alumni Association, enjoy the journey. We are fortunate to have you as a member of our community forever.

Sincerely,

Jan Walbert

Senior portraits have been a long standing tradition within a yearbook. The following pages contain just a sample of the hundreds of faces that encompassed the Class of 2005. All different majors, all different backgrounds, all different stories, all different experiences but together they are a legacy that has enriched the existence of Arcadia University and made it a better place for generations to come. Whether or not a face is physically represented, this class still left a mark, still made Arcadia a home.

To the Left: Interactions at "87."
“87" has been a long standing tradition for the graduating class. Reflecting on the fact that are only about 87 days to graduation - students, faculty, staff and the Student Alumni Association (SAA) come together to celebrate the senior class. It is simply a night to get together before the pressures of Spring semester set in.

Q: What will define your time at Arcadia?

A: I'll never forget my experiences as an undergraduate. From living in the castle to Orientation to being an RA, there were so many moments I will be able to remember for a lifetime.

Lisa Chosed

A: My time at Arcadia has provided me with memories that will last a lifetime, that I will cherish forever. Arcadia became more than just a University, more than an institution of learning, for me it also became a family.

Arcadia has just about 2,000 undergraduate students. The unique part about that is students can be in Glenside, Melbourne, London, Edinburgh, Abington, Philadelphia, Madrid, Dublin or Mexico City and are still considered a part of campus life.

COMMUNITY
70% of undergraduates live on campus; 30% commute.

FRIENDSHIP
Arcadia’s female-to-male ratio is approximately 3 females to 1 male (70% female, 30% male)

CHANGE
The Center for Education Abroad was founded in 1965 and currently serves nearly 3,000 students each year from over 300 North American colleges and universities.
The Campus Life Staff works hard to insure safety and awareness for their fellow peers. It all starts two weeks before classes begin in the Fall with Campus Life training. This is where the Resident Assistants, Apartment Assistants and Commuter Assistants learn valuable lessons and sharpen their skills in trust, CPR, alcohol aid, the campus departments, incident reports, Gaga, programming, healthy relationships, time management, ice breakers, creative problem solving and friendship.

"Only in training can we learn life lessons through Archie Bunker’s neighborhood and the importance of trust by zip-lining over the Perkiomen"

30% of undergraduates commute; 70% live on campus.

The commuter lounge is located on the ground floor of Heinz Hall. This facility includes: a lounge area with a microwave, refrigerator, TV, stereo, work areas, couches, a study room, and a locker room for storing belongings.

The CA's and the Day Student Club often use the lounge for their social and educational programs.

This innovative study abroad program is open by invitation to first-semester freshmen and is the first of its kind in the country.

The program began in the fall of 2003 when more than 60 freshman spent the Fall semester abroad through the University's London partnership with City University.

For the fall of 2004 Arcadia added the option of studying at Stirling University in Scotland.

Full-time Arcadia faculty also journey over for the semester with the new students and several full-time members of Arcadia's Student Affairs staff fly over to spend time with the students.
Arcadia has been a leader in study abroad since 1948 when it was one of the first American institutions to take undergraduate students to Europe to study for credit.

- 40% of Arcadia students study abroad.
- The Center for Education Abroad was founded in 1965 and currently serves nearly 3,000 students each year from over 300 North American colleges and universities.
- Students can study abroad in many different ways, including a full academic year or semester, during their Summer break, or through a "sandwich course" where students spend half a semester learning about a country and its culture then traveling there during spring or winter break and then return to discuss their experiences. Students may also student teach in London or perform an internship in either London or Sydney.
- Programs are available in Australia, England, Equatorial Guinea, France*, Greece, Ireland, Italy, Korea*, Mexico, New Zealand, Northern Ireland, Scotland, Spain, and Wales. *Korea and France exchange and affiliation programs available through The Office of International Services.
Arcadia University is comprised of three major divisions: the Beaver College of Undergraduate Studies; the College of Graduate and Professional Studies; and the Center for Education Abroad. The College of Undergraduate Studies offers the degrees of Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science and Bachelor of Fine Arts. Students can choose from among 30 majors and a corresponding number of concentrations within them. The College of Graduate and Professional Studies offers 12 discrete master’s degrees and a doctorate in physical therapy. The Center for Education Abroad is not a degree-granting entity; it facilitates study at foreign universities, internships, clinical placements, and student teaching experiences.

ATTENTION
The student to faculty ratio is 14:1.

FOCUS
Approximately 90% of professors have Ph.Ds or terminal degrees in their field.
INTIMATE
Average class size is about 16 students.
Alan Powell has been working in video and electronic imaging since the 1970s in collaboration with Connie Coleman. Their work includes single channel videotapes, video installations, print making, and paintings and has been exhibited throughout the United States. Their recent work includes “Songs of a Woman’s Place,” a video portrait of the women and children who are victims of Domestic Violence and the staff that helps them begin the healing process. Other video installations and tape are “FIFTY, a data portrait” and “Echoes in the Hallways.” Powell teaches web design and video production at Arcadia and is the director of our video production facility.
In preparation for the increasingly globally interdependent world of the 21st century, students who major in Spanish have the ability to interact with the Hispanic world verbally and in writing as well as in an appropriate cultural manner. They develop good presentation skills, experience living and studying abroad and become familiar with an alternative way of viewing the world. Students acquire a solid background in civilization, literature, film, history and politics of Latin America and Spain. As liberal arts graduates, they are prepared for professions such as communications, publishing, government work, Foreign Service and public relations.

Matt Miller attended Indiana University of Pennsylvania (IUP) and graduated with two degrees, one in Criminology and one in Sociology. He had aspirations to become a police officer but instead had a change of heart. Matt decided to go into food services, claiming that food was his calling. He started his career at IUP working for Aramark from 1997-2001. He then went on to Philadelphia University before coming to Arcadia as the Retail Operations Manager. His favorite part about working here is the students and enjoys seeing them everyday.
Bonnie Hayes, Assistant Professor of Fine Arts and Director of the Freshman Seminar Program, believes it is important for students who want to be artists to understand culture and artistic heritage. She has worked as the Assistant Curator at The Carnegie Institute and as a Research Associate to the Philadelphia Museum of Art and she uses the museum as an extension of her classroom. On-site lectures there are integral to students' studies. She seeks to enable students to “see” with a critical eye and believes that art history offers us an opportunity to study and understand the strengths and weaknesses of western culture through art. It is essential to understand the values and ideas which art expresses and gain an appreciation of other cultures and modes of expression.
Banking, government, insurance, advertising, sales, healthcare, manufacturing, service — every organization needs qualified managers in order to operate smoothly and effectively. Business Administration is a comprehensive major that can lead to a rewarding career in any type of organization. All of our programs utilize experiential learning techniques for active involvement in the learning process. These techniques facilitate understanding the external and internal conditions facing organizations and the concepts, tools, and techniques that can be used to deal with various conditions. Through simulations, case studies and experiential activities, internships, presentations, study abroad, and hands-on use of technology, one learns by doing.
We offer both Bachelor of Science and Bachelor of Arts degrees as well as Post-Baccalaureate Certificates in Computer Science. Our primary programming language is Java; we also offer Visual Basic and C++ as electives. We encourage students to participate in a cooperative education experience as part of their program. Our students enjoy an excellent reputation in local industry. A highlight of our curriculum is the capstone course sequence. In it, students design and implement a real-world project for an actual client.
Spotlight on...

Dr. John Hoffman, Assistant Professor of Biology, is well known both on and off campus. If you can’t find him in his classroom or the biology lab, you’d better turn your attention outdoors. He might be hiking or stealthily waiting to capture some wild specimen. Not with a net but on film. He enjoys nature photography, a member of and a frequent visitor to the Philadelphia Zoo and the Schuylkill Center. He’s even made the trek to Africa with the Bioko Primate Protection Program team. Under the direction of Gail Hearn, this program is a multinational effort to preserve the most endangered primate in Africa. Most often, Dr. Hoffman can be found engaged in cutting-edge neuroscience research projects or in his office pouring over data.

Rebecca Adams, Campus Activities Programmer, is a graduate of Roger Williams University with a Bachelor of Science degree in Marine Biology. Prior to joining the Arcadia community in the summer of 2004, Rebecca worked with children with differences in Dolphin-Human therapy as a dolphin trainer. Since coming to Arcadia, Rebecca has become the advisor to the Student Programming Board and is enrolled in the Master of Arts in School Psychology Counseling. Rebecca states that her favorite aspect of Arcadia is being able to work with students. "My job is the best because I interact on a daily basis with the students. They make me laugh on those days when I want to cry, and cry because I am laughing so hard. I learn from them everyday."
The entertainment industry in this country has grown into a major economic force and studies in theater are fundamental to careers in television and film today. The goal of this program is to provide students, and the marketplace, with a rigorous four-year sequential course of study in acting, the speaking and singing voice, speech, movement for actors and dramatic literature. In addition, there are offerings in acting and directing for the camera, stage combat, dance, performance improvisation, mask, make-up, and audition technique. Theater Arts majors also participate actively in the life of the University through four faculty-directed productions per year.

Dr. Jerry M. Greiner has joined Arcadia University as its 19th president. Dr. Greiner hails from Hamline University, a top-10 comprehensive university in Minnesota, and is a practicing clinical psychologist. The Arcadia Board of Trustees named Dr. Greiner president in January 2004 after an extensive national search. He replaced the beloved Dr. Bette Landman, who retired after serving 18 years as president and more than three decades of service to Arcadia.

Dr. Greiner joined Hamline in Saint Paul, Minn., in 1975 as an assistant professor of psychology. He became an assistant dean in 1987, and went on to hold several deanships. In 1995, Dr. Greiner was named vice president for Academic Affairs and dean of the College of Liberal Arts.

As Provost, a position he held since 1999, Greiner served as the university’s chief academic officer, chief operations officer and chair of University Council.

He oversaw all of the university’s schools, as well as student affairs, enrollment management, information technology, facilities and human resources.

Dr. Greiner received his bachelor of arts degree in psychology, summa cum laude from Aquinas College Grand Rapids, Mich., and his master’s and Ph.D. in psychology from the University of Cincinnati. He is the founding member of the Associated New American Colleges (ANAC), a national organization that works to highlight and advance the value of comprehensive universities, those that offer both liberal arts and professional studies, such as Arcadia.

Forming a new club may seem like an enormous task; however, it is actually simple. Any group that wishes to organize must submit their request in writing to the SGO and to the Vice President for Student Affairs/Dean of Students. To be considered for recognition, a group must submit a constitution that contains the following information:

1. The aims and purposes of the organization.

2. Evidence of departmental backing and approval or the support and approval of a faculty or staff member who will be willing to act as an advisor.

3. All organizations, except honoraries and religious groups, must have membership open to all students.

4. A list of officers, a constitution and/or bylaws. (All changes and amendments shall be submitted within one week after they become effective.)

5. If there is an affiliation with an extramural organization, that organization’s constitution and bylaws shall be filed with the group’s request for recognition. (All amendments shall be submitted within a reasonable time after they become effective.)

Student Government Organization

The purpose of the Student Government Organization (SGO) is to enhance and strengthen student life at Arcadia University, maintain student rights and responsibilities and regulate student communication among the entire University community. It serves to help foster growth among clubs and organizations as well as promote unity among the student body. It is the link between students and University professionals. SGO consists of the Senators (elected student spokespeople), House of Representatives (club liaisons) and the Cabinet.
Defining Us

PRIDE
This organization exists to serve Arcadia University with social and educational opportunities for people who are involved in and are supportive of the lesbian and gay community. The group members promote a better awareness and strive for the acceptance of sexual minorities through education and support to both gay and non-gay students.

Special Athletes Association
The Arcadia Special Athletes Association (ASAA) is a club dedicated to community service. Each week the members of ASAA help coach a local Special Olympics volleyball team in preparation for tournaments. We provide support, encouragement and friendship to the athletes. This club is open to all students.

The Tower
The Tower is a student-run newspaper of the University. It seeks to publish truthful and factual articles written by staff members as well as the opinions and viewpoints of members of the University community who are invited to submit articles. The Editor-in-chief and other members of the incoming editorial board are selected by members of the outgoing editorial board. All members of the student body are encouraged and invited to join The Tower as writers, designers, photographers and business staff members.

PEERS
Peers was founded to educate and inform the Arcadia University community about issues related to the use and abuse of alcohol and other drugs, as well as to educate and inform the University Community about important issues facing college students today. Through formal programming, discussions, and educational and social activities this group’s goal is to promote awareness and discussion of these issues.

The Office of Student Activities

The Student Activities Office is within the division of Student Affairs and a partner in the educational process and mission of Arcadia University. Through the work and collaboration of the campus life staff and various student organizations, students are provided with diverse and challenging opportunities. These opportunities allow students to learn and develop as citizens, scholars and leaders while in college and for life beyond.

International Club

This club is organized to: welcome international students in the Arcadia University community; to promote understanding of other cultures; to provide opportunities for both American and international students to interact and to learn to recognize and accept one another as individuals; and to sponsor activities to encourage the realization of the above-mentioned aims; and to provide additional opportunities for the international students to practice their conversational English and to learn about American customs.
The name of the organization is B’nai Birth Hillel Foundation of Arcadia University. The purpose of Hillel is to provide various aspects of Jewish culture and life to interested students in the University community. Arcadia Hillel is a part of Multi-Campus Hillel, a unique Jewish organization which brings together college students from eleven universities in the greater Philadelphia area. Through this college network, students have the opportunity to come together and explore Jewish life by participating in social, educational and cultural programs. Events are planned and implemented by student committees and have limitless potential.

Arcadia Christian Fellowship, an inter-denominational Christian ministry to college students, is part of a worldwide organization. We provide several small groups that study different topics and books of the Bible. We participate in week-long and weekend conferences and retreats with other area colleges and universities and offer many opportunities for students to come and ask questions about God as well as opportunities to learn and grow in faith in God.
Activist Club

Activist Club is a club that supports tolerance and acceptance of different ideas, cultures and people. The club also gets involved in political events such as the 2004 "Rock The Vote" campaign co-sponsored with SPB.

"Act Out!
Act Now!"

Members pose with the trash they cleaned up as part of Community Service. The Club promotes giving back to the community and environment.

Rock the Vote!
Along with SPB, Activist Club sponsored "Rock The Vote" to encourage students to register and vote on November 2. Both clubs' efforts paid off. In 2004, an impressive 77% of College students went to the polls and performed their civic duty.
Cheerleading

The Cheerleading Club provides interested students a chance to support the basketball teams as a unit. The club works to promote school spirit.

Students are eager to join Knight Club and show off their abilities, making it one of the fastest growing clubs on campus. Being a part of Knight Club is not an easy task, every night of the school week at least one of dance groups meet for two hours to choreograph and practice dances for that semester's show. In addition to regular practices, in order to participate in the club, members must attend conditioning sessions at the beginning of each semester. This is to prepare their bodies for the arduous training that the new semester brings.

Yearbook tries hard to provide students with a physical representation of their time here. The formula for making a great book is a dedicated hard working staff, plus the cooperation of students, faculty and staff. Intramural and recreational activities are important for students who choose to spend their leisure time in a physical dimension. Programming in this area consists of team competitions, leagues and individual structured workouts. These include co-ed basketball, flag football, soccer, ultimate frisbee, volleyball, and other seasonal activities.

The Arcadia University Athletic Training Staff provides quality injury evaluation and treatment for the college’s student-athletes. The athletic training room is staffed by certified athletic trainers, physical therapy student graduate assistants, and Arcadia University undergraduate work-study students.

TEAMWORK
Arcadia athletes compete at the Division III, NCAA level in Pennsylvania Athletic Conference (PAC).

STRENGTH
Arcadia offers a number of intercollegiate sports ranging from field hockey to swimming.

The Department of Student Activities provides opportunities for students to become involved in campus and community life at Arcadia University. Through involvement in programs and services provided by the department, students enhance their intellectual, personal, social, and cultural development. The best part of the office is the students it strengthens that then go out and provide programming for the rest of the campus.

OFFICE OF STUDENT ACTIVITIES

FUN
The Chat is a performance area that hosts small bands, comedians, movies, and more - all for free.

IN VolvEMENT
Students who get involved are less likely to transfer or drop out of college.
TRADITION

Although we do not have many traditions, the ones we do have are taken very seriously. Here's to Mr. Beaver, Spring Fling and more!
Empty Bowl Dinner

The empty bowl dinner is sponsored by Community Service. The proceeds benefit Northwest Philadelphia Inter-faith Hospitality Network and Heifer Project International. Both organizations feed the hungry and shelter the homeless.

The Masquerade Ball is sponsored by Residence Hall Council. It is held in the main hall of the Castle which limits the number of people who can attend. It is an exciting event around Halloween which allows students to show off their imaginations, originality and creativity by putting together costumes.

One of the greatest things about Arcadia is its vicinity to Philadelphia. The city of brotherly love has one of the best local music scenes anywhere. There are bands and individual performers that range from spoken word, rock, folk, jazz, alternative, and hip hop. Part of SPB's job on campus is to entertain students at the Coffeehouse. Often held in the Chat, artists from Philadelphia and beyond come to perform for students. It's a great opportunity for students to get exposed to new and different types of music.

Student Alumni Association sponsors their annual student CoffeeHouse in November bringing together the talents of current students, Alums and Faculty.

"I'm fighting evil and good and I don't know what I should do. I just need a sign if pain or joy will be mine before I cross that line. Until that day it seems that I'll be living in my dreams."

Tony Minero

Jon Keller portrayed Tony Minero, John Travolta’s legendary character from Saturday Night Fever. From the flawless hair to the blindingly shiny shoes, Keller’s performance was wonderful. To everyone’s satisfaction, Tony danced the night away to classic disco numbers and got the crowd into a retro vibe.

Mario

Accompanied by Princess Peach, Mario made his way to the Mr Beaver stage this year. With an unforgettable Dance mix, Mario had the crowd going crazy with his brother Luigi as the DJ. This was the first year that the commuter students got involved in Mr. Beaver. No doubt thanks to the encouragement and enthusiasm of the Commuter Assistants.

Santa Claus

Sponsored by the ladies of 2nd West Heinz, Santa and a very sexy Mrs. Claus pranced into the competition. Santa had quite a few dancers dressed as Christmas presents and reindeer who put on a very merry dance to "Santa Baby."

Shrek

Shrek was, of course, escorted by Princess Fiona. Everyone’s favorite ogre showed his true layers by dancing and acting out several clips from the film, Shrek. Performing right alongside Shrek and Fiona were a delightful cast of fairytale creatures, such as, Donkey, Robin Hood, Peter Pan, a fairy, and many others.
Marilyn Monroe was anything but modest as she lifted up her skirt to flash the crowd, when she was announced as the winner escorted by President Kennedy. This victory makes it three years running that a man dressed in drag has won. The two predecessors of Ms. Monroe were RuPaul and Dr. Frankenfurter from Rocky Horror. Leaving people wondering if men dressed up as women is what we really want for our Mr. Beaver. Marilyn certainly gave us drag. Wearing kitten heels and a platinum wig with the perfect white Monroe dress (as seen in Seven Year Itch). Whatever his secret was Patrick Gleeson was astounding when he struck a pose next to President Kennedy.

To be a Leader
~Author Unknown

You must endure heartache and sorrow.
You must face humiliation and discouragement.
You work while others play.
You support those who have fallen.
You encourage the despairing.
You give directions to the lost.
You carry the burdens of many.
You weep for the suffering.
You laugh with the many.
You calm the angry.
You comfort the mourning.
You pray for wisdom.
You smile to the frowning.
You listen to the ideas of others.
You forgive those who hold grudges.
You are needed by many...

You are recognized by few.
You achieve the impossible.
You give credit to others.
You give all of yourself to be a leader.
But you ask yourself every day, "Is it worth it?"
But it is, when you make a difference in the life of another.
For that tilts the scales of sacrifice.
And it makes being a leader one of the greatest privileges in the world.

Countdown to Arcadia, a time honored tradition inviting newly accepted students to a reception honoring them, was held on Saturday, April 16, 2005. One of the many events held throughout the day was the Activities Fair, where clubs invited prospective new students to get involved even before classes start.
Lip Sync

Lip Sync, sponsored by the Residence Hall Council (RHC) has been growing in popularity in recent years attracting students and clubs to the stage in Stitler Auditorium. This year placed Knight Club's Beauty and the Beast, SPB's Woodstock Cowboys and Dave Sekula's dance group as the winners.

Dr. Greiner’s Inauguration

“I am very fortunate to be elected president at this particular juncture in our history. All of the building blocks are lining up nicely, and we are imagining and dreaming of a bright future where Arcadia University becomes even better known for its distinctive approach to education.”

excerpt of President Dr. Jerry Greiner’s Arcadia Promise

December 4, 2004
The Tower Ball

Sometimes the best way to start a tradition is to look to the past and reignite an old ember. The Tower Ball was a long standing tradition for many years in this institution's past. When SPB was planning its last dance for the Fall semester, the board decided to revive The Tower Ball.
During the Spring semester a coalition of clubs had the opportunity to bring Shane and Rachel from MTV's The Real World to visit. Both Real Worlders spoke to students about what it means to be yourself even under enormous pressure. Afterwards students met Shane and Rachel and were given time for autographs and pictures.
The Late Night Players

An Arcadia tradition in the making, this comedy troupe always draws a crowd and keeps them laughing. Between the "Grocery Song" and making words of ARCADIA UNIVERSITY - these guys know funny.
In celebration of Theodor Seuss Geisel’s life and work, Arcadia University hosted a birthday party on March 2, 2005. Theodor Geisel, more commonly known as Dr. Seuss, was born on March 2, 1904 and wrote his first story, “And I Think I Saw It on Mulberry Street,” in 1937. Geisel’s most famous book to date is, of course, “The Cat in the Hat,” which he wrote using the first 220 words that children learn to read. As a result, many children now read the classic as their very first book. Arcadia’s celebration included numerous activities throughout the afternoon and was well attended by children from throughout the area. The afternoon was spent face painting, playing with the beloved Cat in the Hat (portrayed by Kat Harbour), bingo, ring toss, and, of course, eating some of Dr. Seuss’s Birthday Cake! Aside from being the most playful community service event of the year, Dr. Seuss Day gets children excited about reading.
Students and the community alike always enjoy this day of festivities and games.

"From there to here, and here to there, funny things are everywhere."

Friday, April 22nd several clubs and organizations came together with the Blitz Planning Committee to host an array of activities and fun. This annual tradition is a part of Spring Fling Week and allows students a chance to take on the spirit of our mascot, the Knight, in the joust; grab their life by the horns on the mechanical bull; race their best friend in a tunnel, over a wall and through a tight slit; or a student could stop by one of the plethora of club activities. This year's theme was "Saddle Up" and encouraged students to grab their cowboy hats and come out for a rootin' toonin' good ole western time.

Woodstock

The culmination of Spring Fling is Woodstock, held on the Saturday after Blitz. This free concert features three bands as well as activities all day. Students enjoyed the sounds of "Fooling April," "Eden Row," and "Tobey Lightman." Whatever they did not get to sample at Blitz was back in full swing as well as henna tattoos, basketball and baseball throws and lots of free food. This year was an alcohol free Woodstock, allowing all of the students and alumni to come together to enjoy themselves.

New Student Orientation

New Student Orientation is probably one of the most memorable and instrumental transition times of a student's life. We all watched as students came to the castle in order to start drawing the bridge to their future. Friendships were made. Connections were established. Pride was instilled. Icebreakers were shared. And Dave Binder came. Whether you are a new student or part of the Orientation Welcome Team, those last few days in August lay down a framework for an amazing year.

The Enthymion Yearbook would not have been possible without the generous contributions of the following individuals. Without the aid of parents, loved ones, friends, businesses, and the campus community, this yearbook would not be where it is today. Success, both financial and emotional, is dependent on the assistance of others. Thanks for helping to create lasting memories. Congratulations Class of 2005!

My Poopa-Nunce,
YOU DID IT! You broke the pattern on both sides of your family, and we could not be more proud of you. Your Dedication, hard work, determination, perseverance and self-confidence brought you to where you are today. Sweetheart, please take a moment to be silent and enjoy how wonderful success feels. And while you’re being still, listen very, very carefully and you’ll hear Dad (Your Guardian Angel) whistle, letting you know how very proud of you he is too.

You are my inspiration!

Love, MOMMA
Kim,
You have brought a special joy to our lives from the moment you were born. No words could express how proud we are of you. You will now bring your special joy to the students you will teach. Arcadia University will surely miss your energetic Cheerleading and your beautiful voice singing the National Anthem. May God Bless you as you begin this new stage of your life. All our love, Mom, Dad, Angela & Brian and your new niece or nephew, Grandmom Bertha, Grandmom Mary, Aunt Judy & Uncle Jeff, Aunt Sue & Uncle Larry, and Godson Jeffrey.

The day you were born we said you were our special little princess, you held your head high, looking for that mall. After all these years you are and will always be our special little princess, who has found her way to the mall. Congratulations on your college graduation. And for all that you have accomplished. Follow your dreams and believe in yourself and you will wind up exactly where you want to be. We know you will succeed in whatever you want, you never give up. That's a special trait, never lose it. You are a sweet and amazing person, how lucky we are to have you as our daughter and sister.

We are so proud of you and we love you so very very very much!!!

Diana Discher

Diana,

It is hard to believe that you are graduating from college! It seems like it was yesterday that you were a freshman. You have grown and changed in so many ways these past four years.

You had some challenges and you met them with determination and persevered. You have much to be proud of! Continue in your life with your bubbly personality. We are very proud of you. Remember: Good, better, best - and you deserve the best!

Love: Mom, Dad and Michelle

You applied to Beaver College, you were accepted to Arcadia University.

You arrived a teenager, you left an adult.

You walked in with a chip on your shoulder, you walked out with a mark on this institution.

You've studied, crammed and made the most of it so that Arcadia could make the best of you.

Congratulations to the Class of 2005!!!

Best wishes to all,

Dear Nicole,

Congratulations! All your hard work and determination has finally been rewarded. It is hard to believe that you have graduated from College. It seems like only yesterday that Grandpop and I were taking you to your first day of Nursery School. It was so hard to let you go. I know he is proud of you as he looks down from heaven. I am so proud of the fine young woman you have become and all that you have accomplished! Congratulations on being a Kappa Delta Pi Member and being on the Dean's Distinguished List. As you go out into the adult world, I know you will accomplish many great things. I wish you all the best as you begin your career as a teacher. You are my greatest accomplishment!! Always stay as sweet and beautiful as you are now!!
Congratulations
Megan Elaine Sverha

What an amazing young woman you are. Your accomplishments at Arcadia have been exceptional. Since the day you were born you’ve made me proud, and this is one of my proudest moments yet. It is an honor to call you my Daughter.

I hope your future holds much success. I hope the friends and memories you’ve made at Arcadia will always hold a special place in your heart. I hope you know just how much you are loved. And whatever lies ahead I hope you remember to “dance”.

Megan, you are the brightest star in my universe, and I will always love you, to the moon ... and back.

We are so proud of you. You are the first in our family to graduate college. All your hard work has paid off.

The years have gone by so quickly, kindergarten seemed like yesterday. Through your years growing up we could always walk with our heads high, because you have been such a joy to have as our daughter.

You have grown to be such a beautiful young lady. We love you so much. You go out there and conquer your dreams!

The future is yours.

Love,
Mom & Dad
Dear Heather,

You have made a difference in every animal's life that you have come across. You go out of your way to put the animals in a safe environment from baby birds to tigers. As Ghandi said "Be the change you wish to see in the world." We are so proud to have you as our daughter.

Love, Mom and Dad

Dear Alex,

It seems like only yesterday you were a pretty little girl, and now we celebrate your college graduation. Looking back over the past 22 years I could not have imagined which way you would choose in life, but I always knew it would be the right way. Your psychology degree represents a real accomplishment of all of your hard work in college. We are so proud of you and love you with all our hearts. All your challenges, your sense of spirit and your experiences have only been a part of your great future. We guarantee our company and our faith forever and always. Your dad would have been as proud of you as we are.

Good luck in the future and God bless you!
Congratulations! You did it.

With much love,

Your mother and brother.
The following people have dedicated much of their time and effort to make this yearbook possible. Goonies never say die, and neither does the yearbook staff. So to you all, a big resounding

From Lauren...

Creating a yearbook is often a very arduous task. It involves late nights, sacrifice, dedication and often more stress than writing a senior thesis. However, the three years I have spent as a member of the staff have been most rewarding. In that time, I have had the opportunity to watch a project that has become “my baby” grow and succeed, overcoming many obstacles along the way. It has definitely been a long and whirlwind journey. I would like to thank the following people for joining me on the trip: Shera Wack- you have the motivation and desire to accomplish amazing things; Meg Hine- your passion inspires me even from across the Atlantic; Monica Mansfield- you exceed my expectations; to the rest of the staff- you have the potential for greatness; Dian Taylor-Alleyne- thank you for your guidance during a period of transition; Bill Avington- thank you for everything, especially keeping Meg, Shera and myself sane; Meg Corcoran- it's all about the life experience. Thank you for reminding me to laugh, for the hours upon hours of lost sleep to chit chat and procrastinate, for becoming one of my closest friends. Julie Grillo- thanks “coey” for being one of my favorite partners in crime. To all of my friends- thanks for understanding the rants and for cracking yearbook jokes to keep me smiling. Jan Walbert, Nick Luchko, Rebecca Adams and Christine Passaglia- thank you for the constant encouragement and kind words. To the entire Arcadia University community- your continued patience as this organization grows is greatly appreciated. We couldn’t do it without your memories, pictures and support. To the Class of 2005- thank you for the friendships that we have formed, I am a better person for knowing each of you. We did it!

Q: Where do see the yearbook in ten years?

A: It is our hope that the book will continue to flourish and grow. No matter where the University is, it will need a record of its history.

The Editors-in-Chief
From Megan...
Another year, another book. I have to be honest, there were a few times when I was not sure if we were all going to make it. The semesters seemed to fly by, taking the deadlines along with them. When I look back on it all I have to think about what and who got us to this point. I regret not knowing the staff as well in the Spring due to my becoming SGO President. I know this book would not exist without them as well as Shera Wack - you picked it up at a tough crossroads; Monica Mansfield - you've done more than your fair share; Meg Hine - even from Scotland; University Relations -the endless supply of pictures; Bill Avington - a great addition even for your short stint; Lauren Murray - it's been quite a trip. Who thought mere pages in a book, a computer and some hasty deadlines would mix us up and throw us into a several year contract and life-long friendship. Of course, I have to thank my suitmates and friends for putting up with my random disappearances and endless rants. To the entire university community - the staff is doing something greater than themselves, trying to establish a record of a piece of Arcadia history. With each year we improve - fixing kinks, growing creatively and mastering the programs. Thanks for everyone’s patience, understanding and support. Here’s to one more year for me and Good Luck to the Class of 2005!

From Shera...
This yearbook has been both a challenge and a joy in my life. Working with the staff, although stressful at times, has brought a great amount of laughter into my life. All-nighters before a big deadline have not only taught me a lesson about the need for time management, but also will always remind me that the brain does not function on no sleep, and around 3:30am, everything seems funny. Lauren, you have shown me the ropes in this office, you have helped bring the book to what it is today, good luck in your future adventures, your presence in this office will be missed greatly. Megan, you always have the right answer or a creative suggestion when I am stuck, I don't know what I would do without you. Meg Hine, you were missed while you were in Scotland and I am so glad to have you back. I will admit, this has been very challenging, trying to balance school, work, and the book, but at the end of the year, when the completed book is in your hands, the reward is all right in front of you. This club works hard all year to produce a solid embodiment of a year's worth of work and memories, and it is priceless. The memories captured within the book as well as those made while working on the book will forever be a part of who I am. To the entire staff and the Arcadia community, thank you for your time, caring, and memories. Good luck Class of 2005!!!
