EVOLUTION

When you were a tadpole and I was a fish
In the Paleozoic time,
And side by side on the ebbing tide
We sprawled through the ooze and slime,
Or skittered with many a caudal flip
Through the depths of the Carbrian fen,
My heart was rife with the joy of life,
For I loved you even then.

Mindless we lived and mindless we loved
And mindless at last we died;
And deep in the rift of the Caradoc drift
We slumbered side by side.
The world turned on in the lathe of time,
The hot lands heaved amain,
Till we caught our breath from the womb of death
And crept into light again.

Germany
We were amphibians, scaled and tailed,
    And drab as a dead man’s hand;
We coiled at ease ‘neath the dripping trees
    Or trailed through the mud and sand.
Croaking and blind, with our three crawled feet
    Writing a language dumb,
With never a spark in the empty dark
    To hint at a life to come.
Yet happy we lived and happy we loved,
    And happy we died once more;
Our forms were rolled in the clinging mold
    Of a Neocomian shore.
The cons came and the cons fled
    And the sleep that wrapped us fast
Was riven away in a newer day
    And the night of death was past.
Then light and swift through the jungle trees
We swung in our airy flights,
Or breathed in the balms of the fronded palms
In the hush of the moonless nights;
And, oh! what beautiful years were there
When our hearts clung each to each;
When life was filled and our senses thrilled
In the first faint dawn of speech.

Thus life by life and love by love
We passed through the cycles strange,
And breath by breath and death by death
We followed the chain of change.
Till there came a time in the law of life
When over the nursing side
The shadows broke and the soul awoke
In a strange, dim dream of God.

I was thwed like an Auroch bull
And tusked like the great cave bear;
And you, my sweet, from head to feet
Were gowned in your glorious hair.
Deep in the gloom of a fireless cave,
When the night fell o'er the plain
And the moon hung red o'er the river bed
We mumbled the bones of the slain.
I was theewed like an Auroch bull
And tusked like the great cave bear;
And you, my sweet, from head to feet
Were gowned in your glorious hair.
Deep in the gloom of a fireless cave,
When the night fell over the plain
And the moon hung red o'er the river bed
We mumbled the bones of the slain.

I flaked a flint to a cutting edge
And shaped it with brutish craft;
I broke a shank from the woodland lank
And fitted it, head and haft;
Then I hid me close to the reedy tarn,
Where the mammoth came to drink;
Through the brawn and bone I drove the stone
And slew him upon the brink.

Loud I howled through the moonlit wastes,
Loud Answered our kith and kin;
From west and east to the crimson feast
The clan came tramping in.
O'er joint and gristle and padded hoof
We fought and clawed and tore,
Ad cheek by jowl with many a growl
We talked the marvel o'er.
And that was a million years ago
In a time that no man knows;
Yet here tonight in the mellow light
We sit at Delmonico's.
Your eyes are deep as the Devon springs,
Your hair as dark as jet,
Your years are few, your life is new,
Your soul untried, and yet-

Our trail is on the Kimmeridge clay
And the scarp of the Purbeck flags;
We have left our bones in the Bagshot stones
And deep in the Coralline crags;
Our love is old, our lives are old,
And death shall come amain;
Should it come today, what man may say
We shall not live again?
God wrought our souls from the Tremadoc beds
And furnished them wings to fly;
He sowed our spawn in the world's dim dawn,
And I know that it shall not die,
Though cities have sprung above the graves
Where the crook-bone men make war
And the oxwain creeks o'er the buried caves
Where the mummied mammoths are.

Then as we linger at luncheon here
O'er many a dainty dish,
Let us drink anew to the time when you
Were a tadpole and I was a fish.

DEDICATION

The 1994 Beaver College LOG is dedicated to all of us who in our college career discovered who it is we really are and want to be. The theme of this book, Facing a Changing World: Discovering Ourselves, was originally coined by the OPEC staff and was also the theme for this year's New Student Orientation. In our past years at Beaver College, we have all experienced and seen changes in our lives: internationally, nationally, at Beaver College, and most importantly within ourselves. As we look ahead to our future, the LOG staff hopes that you will remember and celebrate the past and realize that in this world of change, it is important that we continually realize who it is we really are.

As I look back at my four years at Beaver College my big change is that I now am focused on where my talents lie. As I prepare myself to become a member of the media, I am reminded of a quote by the Infamous H.L. Mencken: "My purpose is to aid the comfort, and comfort the afflicted."

At Beaver I met all types. I learned to tolerate, I learned to educate, and I learned to advocate. This place we inhabit is constantly changing, growing, shrinking, and depleting. Until we learn fully that individuality is uncommon and conformity is common we will not learn to expect and love others as we should unconditionally.

My biggest change has been that I have put my complete faith and trust in God. I have come to realize that my faith in Jesus Christ is the most important thing in my life. For in him we live and move and have our being. Acts 17:28 Thank you mom and dad for all your support, love, and attention my four years at Beaver. It will never be forgotten. I love you.

My change has been internal—within myself. I have surfaced an inner strength which I didn't know existed. Such strength is needed when a wife and mother, working full time, strives to reach her goals. This strength has allowed me to reach my life plateau at Beaver College.

Continue to strive,

The Beaver College Enrollment Management Office

(Excerpts of writer Tom Clancy's commencement address at Villanova in 1991):

Each of you has a dream—something you want to accomplish for yourself. Nothing is as real as your dream. The world can change around you, but your dream will not. Your life may change, but your dream doesn't have to. Responsibilities need not erase it. Duties need not obscure it. Your family need not get in its way because the dream is within you. No one can take your dream away. Failure, like success, is something that you will make for yourself. Success isn't money. Success isn't power. The criteria for your success are to be found in your dream, in yourself. Your dream is the best expression of yourself. Your dream is something to hold on to. It will always be your link with the person you are today, young and full of hope. If you hold onto it, you may grow old, but you will never be old. And that, graduates, is ultimate success. Congratulations!

Dear Vinissa,

Your mother, Lisa, your brothers and myself are very proud of you today. From the time you were a little girl you always excelled when you truly liked something, whether it was academics, school sports or horseback riding. This school has molded you into a fine young woman, “we all thank them.”

I’ve loved you from the moment you took your first breath of life. If someone were to ask me to draw a picture of a perfect child, I’d simply show them a photo of you.

This education you received, no one will ever be able to take away from you no matter what happens in this sometimes difficult but wonderful world. Try to remember: “What is as important as knowledge?” asked the mind. “Caring and seeing with the heart,” answered the soul.

YOU HAVE BROUGHT SO MUCH JOY TO OUR LIVES.

LOVE, MOM AND DAD
Vinissa,

Not of my blood, only of my heart, I never had an obligation to love you—nor you me. Through the years we’ve had our difficulties as other mothers and daughters, but we always seemed to work through them because it was our choice. We chose to have a relationship, as I have chosen to love you as my daughter.

Having only boys, you’ve been a very special blessing in my life. I’ve had the fortune of being able to watch your transformation from a little girl, into a strong, beautiful, and charming young lady. I am so proud of what you’ve become.

Always remember that whatever life tosses our way, whether we agree or disagree, I will always be here for you, in any way that you may need.

Congradulations on your graduation from college.

You did a great job!

Love

TO A FRIEND

You ENTERED my life in a casual way,
And saw at a glance what I needed;
There were others who passed me or met me each day,
But never a one of them heeded.
Perhaps you were thinking of other folks more,
Or chance simply seemed to decree it;
I know there were many such chances before,
But the others-well, they didn’t see it.

You said just the thing that I wished you would say,
And you made me believe that you meant it;
I held up my head in the old gallant way,
And resolved you should never repent it.
There are times when encouragement means such a lot,
And a word is enough to convey it;
There were others who could have, as easy as not-
But, just the same, they didn’t say it.

There may have been someone who could have done more
To help me along, though I doubt it;
What I needed was cheering, and always before
They had let me plod onward without it.
You helped to refashion the dream of my heart,
And made me turn eagerly to it;
There were others who might have (I question that part)-
But, after all, they didn’t do it!

Proverbs 31:10-31

NKJV

10 Who can find a virtuous wife? For her worth is far above rubies.
11 The heart of her husband safely trusts her; So he will have no lack of gain.
12 She does him good and not evil All the days of her life.
13 She seeks wool and flax, And willingly works with her hands.
14 She is like the merchant ships, She brings her food from afar.
15 She also rises while it is yet night, And provides food for her household, And a portion for her maidservants.
16 She considers a field and buys it; From her profits she plants a vineyard.
17 She girds herself with strength, And strengthens her arms.
18 She perceives that her merchandise is good, And her lamp does not go out by night.
19 She stretches out her hands to the distaff, And her hand holds the spindle.
20 She extends her hand to the poor, Yes, she reaches out her hands to the needy.
21 She is not afraid of snow for her household, For all her household is clothed with scarlet.
22 She makes tapestry for herself; Her clothing is fine linen and purple.
23 Her husband is known in the gates, When he sits among the elders of the land.
24 She makes linen garments and sells them, And supplies sashes for the merchants.
25 Strength and honor are her clothing; She shall rejoice in time to come.
26 She opens her mouth with wisdom, And on her tongue is the law of kindness.
27 She watches over the ways of her household, And does not eat the bread of the idleness.
28 Her children rise up and call her blessed; Her husband also, and he praises her:
29 “Many daughters have done well, But you excel them all.”
30 Charm is deceitful and beauty is vain, But a woman who fears the LORD, she shall be praised.
31 Give her of the fruit of her hands, And let her own works praise her in the gates.
