Today Grey Towers Castle is synonymous with Beaver College, but many may not be aware of the history that is part of Beaver College's past.

During the 1930's, Beaver College was for women only. The castle was a dormitory for those who could afford it. Students had to check in and check out with the social director. Lights were out promptly at 11 PM; later studying was done in the bathrooms.

Freshmen wore green "beanies" and had "Big Sisters" who gave them their college rings at a ring breakfast when they were Juniors.

Tuition in 1938 was $250.

Maude Ferran
We rose to our feet when faculty entered the classroom.

Maude Ferran

The Rose Room got its name from a large, rose-colored oriental rug which had a border of large roses. Sheets of rose silk covered the walls. There were required formal receptions for the president of the college and the faculty. The young ladies wore long gowns and kid gloves to the elbow and were instructed on how to behave in a receiving line. The Residence Director introduced each girl to the president and she then had to politely shake hands and say “How do you do?” to each person in a line that often circled all the way around the Rose Room.
Each class composed their own song.

Maude Ferran

Senior Week and May Day were the two large celebrations of the year. During Senior Week, the girls formed a lantern chain and sang "Follow the Gleam" as they walked up the hill to the castle. There was a theme chosen for May Day, which was held on the hill that is now the soccer field. The girls danced around the May pole, weaving in and out until the streamers they held were plaited around the pole.

There was a Queen, usually a senior, and an Honor Court of juniors and seniors. Honored freshmen and sophomores formed a laurel chain to accompany the Queen. Strings of laurel connected girl at the shoulder.
Weekends off depended on your grades.

Maude Ferran

The girls were taught the correct way to ascend and descend the grand staircase. Eyes were to be held straight ahead, with the back erect, as the girls walked the polished mahogany steps. There was no carpeting at this time.

Every Thursday at the fireplaces, the ladies were instructed on the correct way to serve a formal tea, complete with silver service.

The castle is the connection between the traditions of those in the past and the future at Beaver.

It's effects, if durable, will show themselves in my teaching," said Pradyumna S. Chauhan, professor of English here at Beaver. Chauhan is the recent recipient of the Rockefeller Fellowship. This took him to the University of Pennsylvania's Center for the Study of Black Literature and Culture where he studied Claude McKay, a Jamaican author responsible for the Harlem Renaissance. Chauhan has used the knowledge to start a class at Beaver that is designed to fill the gap in our offerings of Afro-American literature.

In addition to teaching, Mauro has recently had an exhibition at the Rosenfeld Gallery in Philadelphia, where he showed 40 screenprints produced over a five month period, and did a sabbatical internship at Video Smith Inc. and CoreStates Creative Services in computer graphics. Presently, his art is in a state of metamorphosis where he is combining motion and sound into his work.

Mauro says that what he tries to impress the most to his students, through his own experiences, is that creativity is a life process.

"Many elements encompass what a good artist is, but I believe that the one common thread between all creative people is a constant thirst for discovery and a need to be an explorer into the limits of their own vision," said Bob Mauro, a Beaver College professor of Fine Arts.
As a well-respected Biology and Physiology professor, Dr. Vomachka has been teaching at Beaver College for three years. He was recently chosen to be the recipient of the national Pew Fellowship. He used this funding to spend the summer at the Mount Desert Island Biological Laboratory in Maine. It was here that he did research involving the calcium sensitive proteins responsible for vasoconstriction of aortas in sharks and environmental pollutants such as cadmium and nickel that have the same effects on the aorta.

Vomachka has brought his findings back to Beaver by setting up a lab where students are doing similar research. The students at Beaver recognize Vomachka’s outstanding teaching ability, as last year, he received the distinguished Lindback Award, which is an honor nominated and voted on by the students at Beaver College.

Despite numerous injuries this season, the girls’ soccer team hung in there to finish with an 8-8-1 season and advance to the NAIA semifinals. One of the highlights of their season was their victory over Haverford College, where they shut them out 3-0.

Being one of two seniors graduating this year, Allison Thomas stated that the team was simply strong all over, overcoming the injuries that plagued them. She also credited coach Ray Cresssee for his ability to coach a women’s team and his ability to motivate them.

Having played both offensive and defensive positions in her eight years of soccer, Thomas was asked why she settled with defense. She replied, “when in defense, you can see everything going on. I’d rather slide tackle someone at the last second than score a goal.”
There is something about hockey that just makes you want to play it; you either have to love it or you hate it," said Laura Lane, known as "Bug" to her friends. Lane must love field hockey, as she has been playing the sport for 10 years, four of which were at Beaver College.

As goalie, Lane helped lead her team to a 12-1-2 season and the Keystone Athletic Conference title for the second year in a row.

She credited a successful season to what she calls a "classic team". Lane emphasized the closeness of her team members and how they all work together for a victory. Lane stated, "If I were a goalie on an opposing team, I would never have done so well. I was happy that I was behind them and not in front of them."

Chris, my favorite daughter. Congratulations! You’ve come shining through and the future’s going to be the best. I’m so proud of you and I’m sure you know that Dad’s buttons would have been poppin’ all over the place too. God bless you. Mom, with love

Kathleen Kolongowski

Having a daughter like you is a special treasure indeed. Sharing a special love, I’ve watched you grow from a funloving little girl to a mature young woman. Good times and adversity have helped you mold into the person you are today. I am so very proud of you and your accomplishments. You did it! Daddy is smiling down today! Love, Mom

Susan Loeb

"The capacity to care is that which gives life its greatest significance." You have always brought so much love and joy into our lives. Congratulations to you and the class of ’91! Love, Mom, Daddy and Steven

Lisa Maria Malone

With love and best wishes— we are all very proud of you! Mom, Dad, Darrin, Janice and Grandmom
Monica Mascio

Congratulations! We are all very proud of your accomplishment. Love you always. Mom, Dad, Donna, Cheryl, Joey, Linda and Meri

Leslie McHenry

Congratulations, Good Luck, and Success to you. We know your future years will return to you the joy you have always given us. We are proud to be your parents. Love, Mom and Dad

Tyler Mumford

God’s blessings be with you as you travel through life. May you always honor and serve Him. Peace be unto you! Marion Tilghman, Lawrence Tilghman, and Jackie Johnson

Tyler Mumford

As you grow in education, may you hold on to this one Truth, “Put God first in all things, serve Him and enjoy the joys of his Peace.” Grace be with you. Leonard Tilghman, Brenda Tilghman, and Shanna Tilghman
Bernadette McHugh

Congratulations, we knew you could do it! All our love and support always.
Mom and Dad, Joseph and Maria

Kathleen W. Pelegrin

You earned every credit and all the credit goes to you—now we hope you can cash in!!
We could not be prouder of you!
Love you a ton, God bless you.

Mark S. Schink

Congratulations! You made it and we are very proud of you. We love you and wish you the very best in all that you do.
Mom and Dad

Tiffany Ann Schmidt

You have made us very proud. Now get out there and get them! I can't wait much longer for that Jag and Dad needs new golf clubs.
Congratulations!
Love,
Mom and Dad
Diane M. Shupp
The voice of the intellect is a soft one, but it does not rest until it has gained a hearing. We are proud of you and your success. Love and Congratulations, Mom, Dad and Audrey

Kim Standish
Congratulations and Good Luck! Kim, Meg, Fleetwood and Zalips. All our love, Mom, Dad, Michelle and Kirk

Jo Summers
Good Luck and best wishes to a wonderful sweet young lady, in the future and as you start your career in teaching. Lots of love and luck. Bob and Mom

Sheila Tarlleton
To our very special daughter, Sheila Mary, you are God’s precious gift of love—you have given us a lifetime of joy. We are so proud and happy for your, because of your hard work and success. With love and pride on your graduation, God bless you and all your class. Mom and Dad
Jill Lynda Vara

Congratulations Jill (a.k.a. Crystal)! Hope your students will always enjoy your charming and imaginative nature. You have created your own success story and we have all enjoyed the "audition". We are all so proud of you. Love always, Mom and Dad.

Hope Joan Zeitz

Congratulations on your graduation! We’re very proud of you and wish for you happiness and success. We know you’ll accomplish all of your goals. The sky’s the limit! Go for it! We love you! Mom, Dad, Paige and Grandmothers Helen and Leah.

the Class of

Mom, Dad and Family
To our sweetheart Tracey we are so very proud of what you have accomplished. It was long road for you but you did it and we knew you would. Remember to follow your dreams and they will come true. Mom, Daddy and Kimberly

Arezoo Ghobadi

Congratulations! You mastered the art of scheduling classes. Who else could go through college attending only one day per week of classes? A six day weekend? You did it and you did it well. We’re proud of you! Manijeh, Henry, Zakarayah, Cenobar
