DEDICATION . . .

A willing hand extended and a constant affirmative response to those who seek her services is her attitude. Time is transcended when there are those who need her. A generous heart, a subtle wit, and a superior intellect—such are her attributes. No task is too great; no rewards are necessary. Her acceptance of responsibility is complete—in her classes, the newspaper, Judicial Board, and the progress of the college. Perfection prevails along with sincerity and consuming interest. Understanding, self-sacrifice, indefatigable energy, and intellectual progress characterize her. A careful, deep-probing quest for truth and endeavors toward successful living engage her. She looks within and serves without.

Thus we dedicate our yearbook to Mrs. Sturgeon, our tribute to her endless striving and unselfish giving. May she know of our lasting appreciation and deep affection for her and may she remain in our minds henceforth a symbol of the integrity found in our college years.

Nineteen fifty-six–nineteen fifty-seven . . . a year of expansion and change as well as a year of traditions which are and we hope will always be Beaver College. We started the school year with one of the largest enrollments ever—631. Imagine! Would we ever know all of them? Silly freshmen and mature freshmen; girls with definite reasons for coming to Beaver and those who would find what they wanted from life during their four years here. There were those who looked older than some of the seniors and others who just could not be sixteen.

With the new enthusiastic freshman class came some who would help in the education of all the classes, the new professors. The English department welcomed Mrs. Shirley Stine while the psychology department gained Mrs. Nicollette Cozzi Mirra. Miss Nellie Harris (biology and physics) and Mrs. Betty Knox in the health and physical education department began teaching for the first time on the Beaver faculty. Girls majoring in history or political science met Mr. Marvin L. Edwards and Mr. Joseph A. Peters Jr., while those interested in math and French welcomed Mr. Marvin G. Blom and Captain William Lynch Ware.
Besides an increase in the college enrollment and addition of new professors, both campuses expanded to meet the urgent need for more room. An old landmark on the Glenside campus was changed to help in this expansion plan. The Gate house was transformed into the new Music Conservatory complete with pink window frames and renamed Blake Hall. Another new addition to the Glenside campus was Thomas Hall, a dormitory which houses 62 girls. Not to be forgotten, the old parking problem on the Jenkintown campus was greatly improved by the enlargement of the parking lot in back of maintenance. Along with the improved parking conditions, one must not forget a very special and long-awaited item—two new buses!
Besides all the new additions and improvements, the school year started out as another year of traditions. Religious Emphasis Week gave the girls an early chance to meet together and separately with Reverend David C. Newquist in the spirit of fellowship which helped to bring the 631 students closer together. Some of the assemblies during this week were held in Taylor Chapel and some in Murphy Chapel. Most of the succeeding assemblies and chapels, however, were held in Murphy Chapel to accommodate the enlarged enrollment.

After Religious Emphasis Week came the first major dance of the year, Soph Hop, although many considered the Day Students Fall Informal a major dance as it was one of the most successful of its kind in recent years. The Soph Hop was a big success with clever decorations and a lively band to fit the theme of "Carousel."
On Fridays there was a general exodus as girls headed for nearby men's colleges for the football weekend which characterizes this time of the year. Sunday evenings they returned carrying mementos of a "fabulous weekend"—stuffed animals, football programs, and mums, all of which eventually found themselves on bulletin boards throughout the dormitories. At one of these weekends, Penn-Navy, freshman Dorothy Herzka reigned as queen.

Dr. Paul Cutright's book on Theodore Roosevelt as a naturalist attracted nationwide attention and was read avidly by students here.
Another tradition at Beaver is its hockey team which this year as in the past put sportsmanship, good team work and native ability together to bring about another victorious season. In their familiar gray tunics and red sashes the Beaver varsity won all but one game. We were very proud of the fact that three of our players, Maxine Swift, Barbara Heylmun, and Rosie Deniken made the All-College first hockey team. Rosie went on to become All-American for the second straight year while Barbara was placed on All-American reserve.
Ike vs. Adlai was the major topic of conversation in many smoker sessions. In the mock election, returns favoring Ike were so heavy, the Beaver News headlined its election issue with “Eisenhower By a Landslide in Both Beaver and Nation.”

The biggest event of the first semester, Song Contest, took place on November 20 climaxing the end of long preparations as the “Most Happy Seniors” broke the eight-year tradition of Junior wins by proving that “experience” means victory. The Freshmen, following a shorter and more concentrated period of hazing this year broke an unwritten law by not losing their dinks, but their spirits were high as they won honorable mention and had their flag flying at the top of the flag pole the night before Song Contest as the result of “enthusiasm” which won the tug-of-war for them.
The annual Campus Chest Campaign also came to a close on Song Contest night as chairman Barbara Ficken announced the winner of the hugman contest. For the second year, one of the most entertaining and at the same time money-gaining stunts of the whole program resulted when the faculty forsook their scholarly roles for an hour and waited on the dinner tables in Towers and Beaver dining rooms. In addition to doing an excellent job of serving, the new waiters and waitresses entertained their customers by song and dance.

After a too short Thanksgiving vacation, the students came back to finish up term papers, participate in more activities and continue studies. But an evening out was taken when Miss Ruth Draper, a well-known actress, presented several of her inimitable character sketches in Murphy Chapel to an appreciative audience of Beaver students and outside guests.
How Beaver could help the Hungarian revolutionists provoked much thought on campus with a committee for Free Hungary as the result. Also around this time, the Dean of the College announced that a new curriculum is to be incorporated into the school next year. It is a combined major in art, drama, and music which would lead to a bachelor of art degree and emphasize the humanities more at Beaver. Later in this same week, it was announced that after 1958, courses in home economics would not be offered.

In the busy time before Christmas, Theater Playshop offered Giraudoux's The Enchanted, a charming fantasy. The play had a three night run and was well received by all. In these weeks which were full of the inevitable rush to get everything done before Christmas, Jenkintown stores were filled with Beaver browsers and some buyers. We ate the traditional turkey dinner, sang carols in the lobby, and began to feel the real meaning of Christmas as Dr. Kistler spoke and the chapel choir sang at Christmas vespers. Then came the last goodbyes till the new year and we wondered who would come back married, engaged, or pinned this time. Beaver was deserted for two weeks except for some workmen who were redecorating the Chat.
Throughout the year "honor" was discussed until the Honor Council president stated that there will be no distinction made between academic and social honor. She added that this new concept of honor would bring Beaver students one step closer on the path to becoming more responsible and mature in their thinking.

International Theater Month was recognized at Beaver by the annual Play Contest. This is a time when the girls who might be too timid or embarrassed to try out for the playshop productions can show their acting, directing, and staging abilities in class competition. Each class this year presented a play from a different country to capture the international flavor of the theater.

"Festiva de Roma"—the biggest weekend of the year—Junior Prom, eagerly awaited and planned for by all juniors and always considered "the best prom yet." Dates began arriving on Friday afternoon and for a weekend Beaver was transformed into a "co-ed" campus. None of the juniors will forget the thrill they felt as they walked down the huge stairway in Grey Towers lobby for the traditional promenade.

After Christmas, along with the cold weather came finals—the first time for frightened "clutched" freshmen, but "old stuff" although just as gruelling for the seniors... some stayed up all night sipping coffee as they tried to remember dates and facts that had been collected over a five-month period. Then the familiar, "I just can't go through this again." But somehow we did at the end of second semester.
Move-Up Night came earlier this year to allow the new officers to get better acquainted with their offices and councils and to acquire more experience for problems that would face them in September. With the beginning of a new governing body came a new season—Spring. By this time seniors were beginning to realize how close they were to graduation and began haunting their mailboxes to see if those teaching contracts, job offers, and acceptances had arrived. For many wedding plans occupied most of their thoughts—guest lists, invitations, reception, gifts.

But with spring and all its beauty came the annual festive May Day celebration on Grey Towers lawn. Later on in the evening was the dance in Towers itself. A Queen and her six attendants reigned over the day and evening. Singing and dancing comprised the pageant that was seen by many outside guests.
Then came finals again—but these were a little different than the February ones mainly because all the studying was done in the sunbathing courts. So while studying it was easy to get a head start on a summer tan. Too soon the long-awaited time came for the seniors as they finished their last exams, packed their trunks, and found time to attend dances, picnics, class meetings, song fests, and finally the graduation ceremony on June 9. Was this really the end of a college career? Had we really been here for four years? No more Song Contests, athletic events, 8:25 classes, council meetings. June 9 marked the end of a year of expansion and change in Beaver College for the seniors, but now they were ready to begin another new life made brighter because of their Alma Mater.
As I always like to say "hello" to our students, I am glad to use the pages of the Log to extend congratulations to the members of the senior class and best wishes to those who will be seniors in the years to come.

We trust that Beaver fulfilled your expectations and that you will live happily and successfully for many years.

The Student Government Association exists to unify and represent the student body. Aside from its customary activities, this year the council revised its constitution, sponsored the Hungarian Welfare Drive, and began planning for a future international affiliation program.

NOMINATING COUNCIL

Nominating Council supervises all major elections on campus, assists independent organizations in their elections and sets up principles by which campaigns are governed. Besides its activities with campaigns and elections, the council also administers a point system in connection with extra-curricular activities.

DIANE BARRY
President
DAY STUDENT COUNCIL

The Day Student Council solves the problems of integrating the commuting students with all the aspects of campus life. This year the organization initiated a social program of weekend overnights to acquaint the day students with dormitory living.

FREDA FRIZ
President

Front Row, Seated: Jean Stout, Alice Irons, Freda Friz, Judy Jones, Ruth Huss; Standing: Barbara Ulmer, Nancy Blackman, Alice Blair, Lynn King, Joan Norman, Toni De Prospero.
HONOR COUNCIL

Honor Council is the educative body which forms the nucleus of Beaver's honor system. This honor system is the basis of all academic and social behavior and involves both personal and group responsibility.

The Judicial Board, whose purpose is to consider cases in which there is a question of a breach of honor in academic or social regulations, represents the democratic form of justice in student government.

DORMITORY COUNCIL

Dormitory Council serves to regulate house government, dormitory upkeep, and general decorum of the students on campus. At present the Council is making vigorous efforts to effect a system of social honor that will be effective and beneficial to the students.

Y.W.C.A.

By sponsoring such activities as the Big Sister-Little Sister picnic, square dances, and carolling at Christmas, by planning Religious Emphasis Week, and by conducting one chapel service a week, the Y.W.C.A. members propagate a "full and creative life through a growing knowledge of God."

ELAINE SCHERMFRHORN
Chairman

STUDENT COUNSELORS

It is the concern of the Student Counselor to help give direction, meaning, and depth to the college experience of the new students. Qualities such as "vision, personal security, self-respect, loyalty, and sensitivity to individuals" will enable her to fulfill her purpose most effectively.

FORUM

Forum correlates extra-curricular activities on campus in the form of particular interest clubs and promotes cultural interest by providing guest speakers during assembly programs. Among Forum's specific activities are the sponsoring of Marriage Council, educational movies, and concerts.

MARCIA CLIST
President

PUBLICITY COMMITTEE

The Publicity Committee, in its first year, is set up to coordinate publicity on both campuses. It has achieved this purpose admirably by organizing the bulletin boards, educating the student body, and channeling the other means of communication.

ELEANORE PERRINE
Chairman

BEAVER NEWS

The Beaver News, a bi-monthly publication, reports campus, national and international news. It is the voice of the school, the permanent record of events, and annals of Beaver College, and is the students' means of expression on matters academic, social, and extra-curricular.

LOIS BRANDS
Editor

As in previous years, this year's Beaver Log is designed not only for the Senior Class but with the whole school in mind. With the aid of underclass reporters, it has attempted to present a picture of the college, its councils, clubs, social events, and extra-curricular activities program.
BEAVER REVIEW

The Beaver Review is a quarterly publication whose purpose is to stimulate creativity and thought among the students, and to publish works that show literary and artistic promise. The staff is composed of those students who both contribute to the magazine, and who show ability in literary criticism and judgments.

SONG CONTEST
The "Most Happy Seniors" guided by experience, enthusiasm, and class spirit won Song Contest for the second straight time becoming the first senior class in eight years to gain the highest honors in class competition. Capturing honorable mention was the ambitious Freshman Class who were full of pep and determination.
THEATER PLAYSHOP

Theater Playshop's fall production was a whimsical play by Jean Giraudoux, "The Enchanted." The central theme of life and death and their relationship was woven skillfully into the production by Jessie Mulford as Isabel; Lois Roemmele as the Doctor; and Nancy Wakeley as the Supervisor of Weights and Measures. Miss Judith Elder, associate professor of theater arts, directed the play.
"CAROUSEL"
Music from "Carousel" was the main feature of the annual Sophomore Hop presented by the Class of 1959 in the fall. Ron Grober and his Quaker City Rhythm Kings from the University of Pennsylvania provided a variety of dance music to suit all tastes.
FESTIVA DE ROMA...

A Roman holiday was created by the class of 1958's Junior Prom in March. The Roman interlude opened with a toga party, Togas and Torchlight, on Friday night of the long-anticipated weekend. At Nero's concert on Saturday afternoon, the weekend revelers listened to the calypso music of the River Chambers Band.

In a whirl of lovely formals and handsome tuxedos, the Bacchanalia, with music by Billy May, crowned the holiday with the traditional Junior Promenade. At midnight, the queen among queens, Deanna Kabram, attended by Joyce Edwards, Berminna White, Belva Henriquez, and Elizabeth Solliday, was crowned by Judy Wagner, last year's queen.

All too soon the holiday was over, but the Roman influence remained—in the guise of glass goblets with a medallion representing the Festiva de Roma as souvenirs.
Margaret Spare's "Speak No Returnings," written for the junior class, was the outstanding feature of the annual Play Contest in March. The juniors for the second consecutive year copped the best play award. Sophomores Janice Eckert and Ann Husing delighted the audience with their parts in "The Flattering Word" and were awarded best actress and honorable mention respectively.

"The Intruder" presented by the senior class and "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals" presented by the freshmen rounded out the contest termed "the best ever."
MAY DAY

Surrounded by the dragon, giants, and seven deadly sins from Edmund Spenser’s “The Fairie Queen,” Martha Berglund reigned as May Queen at the traditional May Day festivities.

The “Fairie Queen” story was recreated through the interpretive dancing of the Modern Dance Club and classes. After the processional of the Laurel Chain, the Honor Court, and the Queen and her court, Nancy Maresca and Cindy Howard as Una and the Red Cross Knight triumphed over the dragon and sins, providing a pleasant ending to an otherwise chilly May Day.

Martha Berglund, Dorothy Hancock, Verna Lou Banks, Marcia Clist, Inta Eglavs, Joan Flickinger, Elaine S. Dennis.

IN APPRECIATION...

A yearbook is the culmination of many intangibles—ideas, guidance, and encouragement. Appreciation to those who helped us to achieve the result of these intangibles—The 1957 Beaver Log—must be given to:

- Mr. Benton Spruance, adviser to the yearbook
- Dr. Doris Fenton, literary adviser to the yearbook
- Dr. Everett B. Townsend, financial adviser to the yearbook
- Mr. Nicholas Ickes of Ickes Annuals
- Mr. Emil Rhodes and Mr. Seymour Halpern of Rhodes Studios
- Miss Frances Lewis, director of public relations
- Mr. Thomas Barlow, comptroller and the Beaver Log staff for their enthusiasm and cooperation throughout the year. We are also deeply indebted to Mr. Spruance for capturing, in his portrait of Mrs. Sturgeon, the personality and character of the woman to whom this yearbook is dedicated.
