FOREWORD

THROUGHOUT THE AGES, love of beauty and truth has been sustained in the human mind and preserved in a tangible form by the artistic and literary masters. The search for aesthetic insight and individual integrity has never changed. This permanence of the human ideal can be illustrated by the harmony with which the words of Plato and Dylan Thomas can be mingled on these pages. Representing the unwavering desire of the individual to determine the essence of life, the Greek scholar of 400 B.C. and the young Welsh poet who died last November help us, the class of 1954, to present a portrait of our college life and our attempt to uphold the ideals of beauty and truth.
DEDICATION

Somehow, most members of a college tend to devote their interests to a particular field or aspect of college life. A student, therefore, is highly commended when she is able to combine two such widely diverse interests as the study of Latin and hockey. We, the class of 1954, wish to pay tribute to a member of Beaver’s staff who has displayed such versatility of interests, and represents the highest academic standards.

Having graduated, Magna Cum Laude, from Vassar College, where she majored in Latin, she came to Beaver as Dean of Students from 1933 to 1936. Returning in 1948 as Manager of the Book Store, she has won the hearts of both students and faculty, all of whom appreciate her patience, her graciousness, her sincerity, and her genial sense of humor. In team spirit she is surpassed by none, and her good sportsmanship has not gone unrecognized; she has been elected Honorary Manager of the Athletic Association, and two of her most beloved possessions are a silver good luck pin and a felt letter "B", presented to her last year in appreciation of her support and unfailing attendance at athletic events.

We are sure that Plato smiles in agreement as we dedicate our yearbook to a true lady in the finest sense of the word, Miss Florence Benedict—scholar, citizen, and friend to all.
A mind endowed with measure and grace.

PI DELTA EPSILON

Beaver’s chapter of Pi Delta Epsilon, national honor fraternity in journalism, was the second women’s chapter to be chartered by the Grand Council. It is the purpose of the fraternity to maintain high journalistic standards among the staffs of the college publications, and to reward the student journalists for their efforts and accomplishments by granting them membership. As its major activity, Pi Delta Epsilon sponsors and arranges the Publications Banquet each April.

PSI CHI

Psi Chi at Beaver serves primarily to advance the science of psychology and to honor outstanding students of that field. It also attempts, however, to encourage, stimulate, and maintain scholarship of its members in all academic fields.

THE MIRROR

As the images of the student in the Mirror are reflected on these pages, so their personalities have been reflected on the Beaver campus for four years. Those who know them best— their classmates—have selected them to receive this tribute for having given unstintingly of their time and talents for the benefit of the college. Chosen not on the basis of their offices but for their actual contributions, these students have displayed a wide variety of interests and activities.

The Mirror serves to capture permanently the reflection of the girls considered by the class of 1954 to be its outstanding thinkers, workers, and leaders.

We shall keep always to the upward way and in all things pursue justice with the help of wisdom.

—PLATO
The purpose of the Student Government Association and the Student Council is to maintain a high standard of honor and promote a spirit of unity among the students, to secure cooperation among the various organizations, to further the best interests of the student body, to encourage responsibility, self-government, loyalty, and—above all—honor among students.

The President
ANITA RUFF

HONOR COUNCIL
Elected members from each class form the Honor Council, the jurisdiction of which does not extend beyond the classroom. The Honor System, which is administered by the Council, is that extension of self-government by which each student is held responsible for her own conduct as well as for that of her fellow students. Aside from the academic, the Honor Council endeavors to inspire in the students the need for honor in every phase of life.

DORMITORY COUNCIL
On the Beaver campus, the Dormitory Council is the coordinator of the activities within the three dormitories. It assumes the responsibility of governing the dormitories and keeping them quiet, orderly, and attractive, and of maintaining the proper decorum of students on campus.

NOMINATING COUNCIL
Nominating Council presides over all student elections by preparing slates and ballots of students eligible for office, counting these ballots, generally directing all campaign activity, and stimulating interest in voting. It also carries out the extracurricular point system, which prevents a student from assuming too many offices, thus strengthening both campus organizations and scholarship.

DAY STUDENT COUNCIL
Dealing with the problems of the day students, and endeavoring to promote a closer relationship between commuting and resident students of Beaver, the Day Student Council consists of a representative student group.

THE FORUM OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

The Forum of Arts and Sciences affords the college and the community a distinguished and balanced program of entertainment. Besides stimulating the interest of the student body in various cultural pursuits, Forum is also sponsor of many extra-curricular activities on campus, including programs by celebrated speakers and entertainers.

The President
Jacquelyn Clark
Y.W.C.A. CABINET

The members of the Young Women’s Christian Association unite in the desire to realize full and creative life through a growing knowledge of God—striving to make this life possible for all people.

STUDENT COUNSELORS

Chosen for qualities of character, understanding, patience, and common sense, the student counselors aid freshmen in adjusting to college life. As a source of guidance for the freshmen, they are available to their counselees for consultation at any time.

PARENT-STUDENT ORGANIZATION

Glenside Team Captains

Beaver students join with their parents through the Parent-Student Organization with the purpose of raising funds to help move Beaver to its new campus. Working together closely, the newly-formed group has sponsored several successful projects and plans many more. The student body has been divided into eight teams, which under the leadership of captains, have endeavored to raise money and increase enthusiasm for "A BILL NOW—A BUILDING SOON".

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Its presentation of a successful musical comedy and the sponsoring of the annual A. A. Banquet were the highlights of this year's program of the Athletic Association. The purpose of the A. A. is to develop interest in all sports, to create a spirit of good sportsmanship, and to supervise organized athletic activities in cooperation with the Department of Health and Physical Education. The Managerial Board stimulates interest in the varsity and intramural sports program.

MANAGERIAL BOARD

BEAVER LOG STAFF
Published by the seniors for the enjoyment of everyone associated with Beaver College, The Beaver Log is a photographic and literary record of the functions of all organizations and presents the achievements and personalities of the senior class.

The college literary magazine, The Beaver Review, maintaining the highest standards of literature and art, is published four times a year by a staff which selects material contributed by the student body. Such works as poems, short stories, essays, reviews—even short dramas—are supplemented by interesting illustrations to provide a medium through which Beaver's talent in these fields may be displayed.

THE STUDENT HANDBOOK

The Student Handbook compiles the constitutions of the councils and the rules and regulations for both resident and day students regarding the academic, extracurricular, and social aspects of college life.

CAMPUS CHEST

Organized on the same lines as the Community Chest, Campus Chest makes one large collection from the student body and distributes money to various drives and causes on a percentage basis of the total pledges. Besides donating to national organizations, Campus Chest helps to support student organizations in this country and in Europe.
CANTERBURY CLUB

Working in conjunction with the national organization, Beaver's Canterbury Club endeavors to stimulate the growth of Christianity among students on college campuses. It is designed, in addition, to supplement the religious and social activities of the Episcopalian girls at Beaver.

HILLEL

Hillel, an international organization supported by the B'nai B'rith Organization, is designed to meet the social and educational needs of Jewish students. The Beaver counselorship aims at satisfying the diversified interests of its members with a "College Mother" program, joint meetings with groups from other schools, and Hillel chapel services.

NEWMAN CLUB

Catholic students at Beaver find an opportunity to receive and discuss instructions in matters of their faith by joining the Newman Club. Besides the religious and moral purposes of the group, its function is to enliven the college life of these girls with proper social activities.

SOCIOLOGY CLUB

All fields of human behavior are included in the scope of interest of the Sociology Club, which endeavors to create and stimulate an understanding of human welfare through the application of sociology. The group's activities include field trips, guest speakers, and debates open to the whole student body.

CHEMISTRY CLUB
Delegates from Beaver's Chemistry Club are sent each year to the Philadelphia Area Student Chemists Association and to the Eastern Science Conference, in accordance with its primary purposes: to promote interest in chemistry among students, to introduce to them the current trends in chemical research, and to further the acquaintance of chemistry students at Beaver with those of neighboring colleges.

PSYCHOLOGY CLUB
A comparatively new organization on campus, the Psychology Club proposes to stimulate and maintain an interest in the science of psychology and related subjects. Discussions, field trips, and a wide variety of guest speakers represent the club's major activities.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

To satisfy the varied interests of all its members and show them the practical application of what they are learning, the Home Economics Club invites guest speakers, generally leaders in their field, to discuss nutrition, foods, merchandising, demonstrating, clothing, teaching, textiles, and home-making.

CHOIR

Singing at Monday evening chapel services, participating in Christmas and Easter Vesper Services, and fulfilling singing engagements with various churches in the Philadelphia area are the main activities of the Choir at Beaver College.
NATIONAL STUDENTS ASSOCIATION

For the purpose of providing a bond between college and universities, other student groups, and our own college, Beaver has joined the National Students Association.

This organization serves the student interests in academic, social, and practical affairs. It serves Beaver, particularly, by providing much valuable information gathered from the experiences of other schools and compiled by the organization.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

Keeping in mind the importance of current national and international problems, the International Relations Club studies and discusses pertinent issues and attempts to stimulate student interest and education in them.

GLEE CLUB

Beaver College's Glee Club provides an opportunity for girls to express their musical ability, and arouses the musical appreciation of the student body. The work of the group and the talents of its members are displayed throughout the year when the club sings at various churches, colleges, and civic organizations in the Philadelphia area.

GLEE CLUB OFFICERS

GLEE CLUB

The highpoint during the year for this, the largest musical group on campus, is the annual Beaver Night, given this year in conjunction with the Lehigh Glee Club. Throughout the year they perform for various groups.
THEATRE PLAYSHOP
Sponsoring Interclass Play Contest and two major productions each year, and arousing a student appreciation of the living theatre are the primary functions of Theatre Playshop. This year the group presented Fanny’s First Play, by Bernard Shaw, and The Boy With A Cart, by Christopher Fry.

MODERN DANCE CLUB
The Modern Dance Club is organized primarily to develop interest in all the forms of the modern dance, stressing the phases of exercise, technique, and choreography. The club’s creative ability is presented in the annual Athletic Association show, this year a musical comedy, and the annual May Day pageant.
STUDENT VOLUNTEER MOVEMENT

A common purpose, "to devote their life work to the world mission of Christ's Church," unites the members of the Student Volunteer Movement for Christian Missions. Their projects this year have included a Thank Offering at chapel services, and discussions on Christian service in distant areas.

FRENCH CLUB

A new club on campus this year is the French Club, or "Rendezvous-francais," the purpose of which is to further interest in French civilization, literature, and the arts. Programs arranged by the members consist of lectures by outside speakers, skits in French, and films on France.

PLATO
SONG CONTEST

Song Contest, in which the four classes compete in the composing and singing of original songs, brought victory to the Class of 1955, the Class of 1954 taking the runner-up trophy.
Two on the Isle, a student-written, student-directed musical comedy, combined the talents of various departments to result in an unusually successful production.
FANNY’S FIRST PLAY

In a high comedy which combines wit, satire, and irony George Bernard Shaw gives his own inimitable advice to the youth of the world living in a time of doubt and insecurity. Directed by Miss Judith Elder, this play was a very successful Fall Production.
Christopher Fry has written in verse a pastoral play with Biblical influences in The Boy With A Cart. Jacqueline Clark directed this Spring Production which was a Theatre Playshop presentation. This play was of great interest to the student body not only because it is unusual in its own right but also because it was so distinctly different from the Fall Production.

IN APPRECIATION . . .

It is with deep appreciation that the Yearbook staff dedicates this page to those without whose advice, interest, and guidance, this book would not have been possible.

Dr. Doris Fenton, Literary Adviser to the Yearbook, for her valuable technical guidance.

Dr. Belle S. Matheson for her worthy encouragement and advice.

Mr. Benton Spruance for his creative advice in helping the book develop from the embryo stage to the final work. His perceptive portrait of Miss Florence Benedict has permanently captured for us the personality and character of the woman to whom this Yearbook has been dedicated.

Mr. Nicholas Ickes of the Colyer-Roux Printing Company, whose ideas have helped us in the attempt to make our book original.

Mr. Marvin Merin and Mr. Irving Jacobson of Merin Studios, whose patience and photographic skill have made the photographs an outstanding feature of the book.

Other members of the student body who have worked without recognition in the interest of a fine Yearbook.

In Memory of Our College Pastor

Dr. Frank D. Scott

It is no easy task today to live
The ways of Christ as His example shows—
To love all humankind, to want to give
And not receive. That way of life you chose:
To know humility and practice it,
To set aside the "I" and love the "They,"
To stir the spark of faith and keep it lit
In doubting youth who need that faith today.

You always did far more than others do,
Who merely talk of good and evil ways;
You showed, in all you did, the fine and true—
At all times giving, never wanting praise.
Some smiled; your endless patience seemed so rare;
You overlooked a flaw; you didn't see
An error here, a bit of mischief there.
Your frowns were few, your smiles and handshakes free.

You didn't scold or punish them, because
Your sweet philosophy of life began,
Not with derision of his many flaws,
But love for the essential good of man.
You chose the path most difficult, indeed,
For anyone can see the faults alone.
We found in you, who surely lived your creed,
The truest Christian we have ever known.
