To Live and
To Make a Living
In the midst of the conflict now raging in the field of higher learning between the advocates of general education and the proponents of vocational education, Beaver College stands as a unique compromise between these two systems.

In its program, which combines the liberal arts and the professional departments, and in its endeavor to develop all phases of the student's personality, Beaver College strives to produce an individual who will know how TO LIVE AND HOW TO MAKE A LIVING.

The 1947 BEAVER LOG is a statement of the belief of the students, faculty, and administration in the type of liberal arts institution which graduates intellectually and emotionally well-balanced young women with social sensibility and occupational competence.

This year, Dr. Raymon Kistler returned to full time duties as the president of the college and, after many delays, took up his residence on the campus in the newly-decorated, newly-named "President's House." More than ever, we have come to realize the ever-increasing influence Dr. Kistler exerts on campus life. His winning smile, friendly "hello", wise counsel and helpful instruction have given us a keener insight into his oft-repeated statement, "Here at Beaver, we want you to learn to live and to make a living."
One of the unforgettable personages among the acquaintances of students and alumnae alike is Dean Ruth L. Higgins. Respected for her capability and liked for her pleasant personality, Miss Higgins has solved our scholastic and personal problems with equal facility. When programs become tangled or quality points seem low, we say with perfect assurance, "Leave it to the Dean."
DEAN OF STUDENTS

Mrs. Frances G. Dager

As newly-appointed Dean of Students, Mrs. Frances Dager has undertaken the important position of mediator between members of the faculty, the administration, and the students in a move to coordinate student affairs. We feel that this correlation of extra-curricular and academic activities, will add immeasurably to the furtherance of Beaver’s aim in developing the well-rounded individual.

REGISTRAR

Miss Marjorie Darling

Although Miss Darling has been the registrar for only two years, we constantly marvel at her rapid assimilation of all the mysteries of Beaver’s way of life. For all entering students, Miss Darling forms the first link between high school and Beaver, and throughout the four years, we know that in her smiling, pleasant way, she will remain a constant source of assistance and friendly advice in adjusting many academic problems.

Concerning themselves with the whereabouts of several hundred girls is hardly an easy task for the directors of residence in Beaver Hall, Montgomery Hall, and the Towers. In addition, the housemothers, eager to help us toward a happy and successful four years, are always at hand when we seek their advice or wish to share with them the knowledge of the many exciting experiences that are a part of our college life.

"The notion that intensive and very accurate knowledge of a narrow field and nothing more constitutes a liberally educated man is a grotesque absurdity. . . . Not narrow men, however keen, but broad men sharpened to a point are the ideal product of a sound system of school and college education."

DR. NICHOLAS MURRAY BUTLER
What is needed to elevate the soul, is not that a man should know all that has been thought and written in regard to the spiritual nature; not that a man should become an encyclopedia; but that the great ideals, in which all discoveries, terminate, which sum up all sciences, which the philosopher extracts from infinite details, may be comprehended and felt.

"History when liberally conceived has the function either of politics or of poetry. It is political in bringing the past to focus upon our problems, in illuminating the choices it is ours to make, in making clear why we must face them and in helping us to understand the materials with which we must work.

"History best performs its function as politics when it is functioning as poetry, as a revelation of man, of what human nature has been and has become, the sweetness and glory of being a rational animal."

COMMERCE EDUCATION
"Tip, you lowly chartreuse worm!" Yes, we, too, went through the trials of a greenie freshman’s life. We held doors, made beds, and donned the freshman garb requested of us by the upperclassmen. Freshman year brought us into the spirit of things when we emerged from our first Song Contest possessors of the honorable mention cup. This was only the beginning.

"Sophomore slump" could not be attributed to us, for once again the red and white and its "Soph—omores" claimed second place honors in Song Contest, and to show our capabilities along athletic lines, we walked off with the winning intramural hockey cup. Soph Hop was our big social event of that year and through the grand work of many, it turned out a true success.

As Jolly Juniors, we made everyone "sit up and look", for it was our aim to bring back to Beaver the traditional Junior Prom Weekend—"the" affair of campus activities. Bring it back we did, and in glorious fashion—Vincent Lopez, the flower-bedecked castle, and glittering gowns and tux dancing in a magnificent Towers setting. Our junior enthusiasm and spirit were rewarded in Song Contest this year, too, when once again we accepted our coveted second place cup, plus one more for an outstanding alma mater.

Receiving our Beaver rings at Junior-Senior Ring breakfast in the spring awakened us to the fact that we would be Beaver's stately Seniors.

Senior year found us concentrating on Senior-Faculty Dinner, spirited for participation in campus activities, Senior week, and Senior Ball. Yes, each year we eagerly looked forward to many activities, but as Seniors our eagerness was restrained, for we were not quite so desirous to leave the ivy-covered walls, and the massive Towers that to us symbolized Beaver—symbolized our Alma Mater.
"Parents, employers, and society at large require a great deal more of colleges than intellectual training. They require that students shall be educated socially, physically, morally, and spiritually. They require them to be graduated not as thinking machines, but as fine people and worthy citizens."

STUDENT COUNCIL
The Honor Council was organized for the purpose of helping students to maintain high moral standards. The council consists of two faculty advisers, a president, representatives from each class, and one day student representative. It is their purpose to uphold and further the Honor System, which was established to promote high ideals of honor and responsibility in the student body, both academically and socially.

The point system serves in eliminating the possibility of students failing in academic work because of over-indulgence in extra-curricular activities. By limiting the number of points a student may carry, this system gives opportunity for all capable students to hold offices. The committee is responsible for seeing that all points are kept up to date and that the largest number of students possible may enter into extra-curricular and social activities.

R. McFeeter, G. Boswell, A. Thayer—chairman.

NOMINATING COUNCIL
The purpose of this organization is to further an acquaintance among the day students and to function as an active group at Beaver College. Through this organization, the Day Students are informed of college events so that they may participate more fully in college life. Every year the Day Students sponsor Beaver's first formal dance of the season, which is held in December.

The purpose of the Dormitory Council is to be responsible exclusively for dormitory life, to take care of the house government, to keep the dormitories orderly, quiet and attractive, and to be responsible for the general decorum of the students on campus. The council plans and executes the annual Dormitory Christmas Parties and Freshman-Week Dormitory "Hob-nobs". It meets weekly to review cases of those who have been reported for violation of dormitory rules.
"We, the members of the Young Women's Christian Association of Beaver College, unite in the desire to realize full and creative life through a growing knowledge of God." Forming an intimate part of Beaver's religious and social life through Christian worship, fellowship, and service, the Y. W. opens its membership to any student who will pledge herself to actively support its aims.

The Newman Club organization is for the Catholic girls on the Beaver campus. The meetings, held twice a month, are under the direction of Father Flynn, who speaks to the group on present-day religious problems. The social events sponsored by the club include, from time to time, communion breakfasts and informal dances.

"It is natural for every man to wish for distinction; and the praise of those who confer honor by their praise, in spite of all false philosophy, is sweet to every human heart; but as eminence can be but the lot of a few, patience of obscurity is a duty which we owe not more to our own happiness than to the quiet of the world at large."

SIDNEY SMITH
WHO'S WHO

Each year ten seniors are chosen by a committee composed of members of the faculty, administration, and senior class, to represent Beaver in the publication, WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES. Service to the school through participation in extra-curricular activities and student offices comprises the basis for selection.

To attain membership in Lambda Delta Alpha is to receive the highest scholastic honor given at Beaver, for Lambda Delta Alpha is the senior honor society. Its members are chosen by the Committee on Honors, not only for their scholastic attainments, but also for excellence of character and qualities of leadership. The newly elected members are formally recognized and initiated at the annual Honor's Day service.

The Beaver chapter of Pi Delta Epsilon, honorary collegiate journalism fraternity, functions principally to honor those students who have been the most active and conscientious workers on the College publications, the BEAVER NEWS, the BEAVER REVIEW, and the BEAVER LOG. Acting in the capacity of coordinator of college journalism, Pi Delta Epsilon sponsors a publications banquet in the Spring at which time the newly-named editors announce their staff members for the coming year.

Alpha Kappa Alpha, the national honorary society in philosophy, has taken the form, chiefly, of a discussion group at Beaver. The membership is limited to juniors and seniors who are nominated for their abilities for thought and discussion, and must be unanimously approved by the members before being initiated.

The group meets regularly on Thursday nights and, although few in numbers, the members create an hour of lively arguing around a table in the Chatterbox.
Established in 1913, Pentathlon is the oldest honorary society at Beaver. Pentathlon's purpose is to foster greater interest in athletics and to honor those who have shown sportsmanship, interest, and ability in these sports. Pentathlon members represent Beaver at various athletic contests, sell Beaver banners, and participate in the annual Faculty-Pentathlon basketball game.
"Education is the knowledge of how to use the whole of oneself. Many men use but one or two faculties out of the score with which they are endowed. A man is educated who knows how to make a tool of every faculty—how to open it, how to keep it sharp, and how to apply it to all practical purposes."

According to traditional procedure, we have arrived at the page in the yearbook on which the editors must give a lengthy explanation of the often vague or abstract symbolism of the theme. We feel, however, that the theme of the 1947 LOG already holds a particularly significant meaning for Beaver students and it has been our aim only to transfer that meaning into more concrete form.

In attacking this problem, at first glance the book seemed to divide itself neatly into two distinct divisions. Part one, which includes the seniors grouped under their major fields of interest, obviously coincided with the part of the theme "to make a living". The organizations and activities would represent "to live". We believe the students will now see why we revised that first conception, for actually, these two forces, the academic and the extra-curricular, are working interchangeably toward preparing us to make a better living and to live a richer, fuller life.

Rather than merely telling how Beaver accomplishes her dual objective, the LOG staff has attempted to give visual evidence of our activities in 1946-1947. With as few words as possible, by means of sketches of familiar campus scenes, photographs taken at the scene of the activity, and actual reprinting of representative creative work, we have tried to make this theme, already so representative of Beaver, more understandable and meaningful for students, faculty and administration.

At a time when Beaver College is looking ahead to an ever-brighter future, it is appropriate that the students reaffirm their faith in Beaver's concept of a liberal education, that "here at Beaver, we try to teach the students HOW TO LIVE AND HOW TO MAKE A LIVING."
NEWS POLICY LIBERALIZED

Perhaps you have noticed at the top of the masthead of the NEWS, the following statement: "The BEAVER NEWS is a publication by and for Beaver students and does not necessarily reflect the opinion of the administration."

The insertion of this statement, which will appear in all future issues, is the result of a clarification of policy between the administration and the NEWS. In the past, because of the common misapprehension of many of our readers as to the source of opinions expressed in the NEWS, there have been frequent occasions when the administration or even our faculty adviser was called upon to answer for an opinion expressed by a student in a NEWS editorial. This has been the cause both for unnecessary embarrassment to the administration, and for a certain inhibition of freedom of expression of the students on the staff.

This rather loose definition of responsibility and authority has been a source of confusion to the editor and to Dr. Kistler for some time, and with the aid of surveys of the policies of other college presidents and editors, the administration and editor have come to the following conclusions:

1. The BEAVER NEWS will continue to have a faculty adviser to assist in decisions both on the content and appearance of material for the newspaper.

2. The editor, although free to go to any member of the administration or faculty for information or consultation, shall not be EXPECTED to go to any person except the adviser for advice.

3. The editor, although always open to advice, shall be the final judge as to what will appear in the NEWS.

With this above clarification, the staff is aware that with the increased freedom it has gained, it has also accepted an added responsibility.

It is the hope of both the administration and the staff that any cause of confusion has now been eliminated, and that the BEAVER NEWS will be accepted as "a publication by and for Beaver students and does not necessarily reflect the opinion of the administration."

The rain falls softly, softly, and the heart wonders, but gently. The crystal drops sit on the leaves and the grass is wet. The heart questions, but peace is quiet in the eternity of rain and the answer is almost there like the fragment of a dream. There is no mystery, for truth without a name is hidden in the leaves, is hidden in the wetness and the green of the leaves. There is peace and no mystery, but only the rain; the heart is quiet. The rain falls.

SOCIAL REGULATIONS

While at Beaver College, each girl is under college jurisdiction and must abide by all rules and regulations. Enforcement of these rules and regulations is administered by the Student Government Association through the Student Council. Each girl is expected to uphold the standards of the college both on and off campus.

Social Permission Blanks

A permission blank provided by the college must be signed by the parent and filed in the office of the Director of Residence not later than two weeks after entering college. This blank serves as a permanent permission from the parent for certain privileges.

Week Ends Away from College

Week ends away from college are based on academic rating. All students are required to remain at college the first week end of the college year.

Students are permitted week ends each month in accordance with their grade-point ratio.

- Unlimited week ends—2.5 average or above
- Three week ends —1.8 average or above
- Two week ends —1.0 average or above
- One week end —Below 1.0 average

An unlimited number of week-ends will be granted to seniors during the last month of college, before completion of requirements for graduation. Ordinarily it will be the month of May, but seniors who will be graduated at the mid-year may have an unlimited number of week-ends in January.

Overnights

All students may have the privilege of three overnight permissions during the semester (in addition to their allowance of week ends) to be taken on Friday or Saturday nights, providing that no classes are missed and that the students return for Sunday night chapel. These permissions must be filed with the Director of Residence before 12.00 noon, Friday.

Freshmen

No freshman is allowed a week end or an overnight during her first two week ends at college. For the first semester, beginning in October, freshmen are allowed one week end per month and in addition three overnights for the semester.

Transfer Students

Transfer students shall be granted week ends on the basis of their academic records for the semester preceding entrance to Beaver College.

Academic Week

The college academic week begins at 8.25 a.m., Monday, and ends at 5.30 p.m., Friday.

Week-Ends

(a) Cards: Week-end cards must be handed in personally to your Director of Residence by 10.30 p.m., Wednesday. Four late files, to be used interchangeably for week ends and overnights, are permitted each semester. Any permission taken on Sunday only, which is to be considered a week end, must begin before 6.00 p.m. Such a permission will not count as a late file. Cards must be in by 4.00 p.m. Sunday.

The student must have left her dormitory by 6.00 p.m. Any student wishing to change week-end plans before or after leaving college must notify the Director of Residence. It is not expected that a student leave for a week end earlier than 7.00 a.m. or later than 8.30 p.m. Students returning early from a week-end permission and intending to leave campus again must indicate this intention in writing on the same week-end card.

The purpose of the Athletic Association is to further develop ability, cooperation and sportsmanship in the personality of all students, at the same time, increasing the student's interest in various sports, both varsity and intramural. The need for increased physical skill and for character development is met through sports competition. The far-reaching program of the Athletic Association is open to all interested girls throughout the year.

The Managerial Board is composed of the managers of all varsity and intramural sports, as well as the advertising manager of the Athletic Association. The function of this Board is to organize an interesting and adequate athletic program to interest every student, including both varsities and intramurals for the entire school year.

Acting in cooperation with the Athletic Association and Executive Board, the Managerial Board supports all activities planned by the A. A.

MAY DAY

Eloise Macdonald—May Queen.
From the exotic lands of the Arabian Nights comes the inspiration for the 1947 May Day . . . The traditional ceremony, touched with the color of oriental make-believe has been based on Rimsky-Korsakov’s ballet “Scheherazade” . . . Grey Towers once again provides the background for the procession of the Laurel Chain and Honor Court . . . Then, entertainment for the newly-crowned queen and her court, with dances in the oriental mood and Rimsky-Korsakov’s richly descriptive music . . . And to transfer the scene quite out of the realm of reality, gowns and scenery from the “Arabian Nights”, where the story of Scheherazade is found.
CLASSROOM ACTIVITIES
As you think, you travel; and as you love, you attract. You are today where your thoughts have brought you; you will be tomorrow where your thoughts take you.
Whatever your present environment may be, you will fall, remain, or rise with your thought, your wisdom, your ideal. You will become as small as your controlling desire; as great as your dominant aspiration.

JAMES ALLEN
"Our Junior Year, our third year, and our best year"—so went our class song as we sang one hundred strong at Song Contest. Our spirits weren't dampened one bit when the cups were passed in other directions; we were busy being proud of the fact that it was a Junior who succeeded in having Song Contest recorded for the first time.

Then without a second of lethargy, we were busy planning a spectacular Prom—selling crew hats, giving advertising skits, and generally enjoying our position as upperclassmen. Our heads were in the clouds for weeks just thinking about the big event. A formal dance with Joey Kearns started the ball rolling Friday night, and an aura of glamor pervaded the campus for the full week-end with unique festivities planned at every turn. But alas, it came time to pack the Paris creations, put them back into the closet, and settle down to normal existence.

Maybe it was just as well we all kept busy. It made the days on the calendar spin by and finally the big day came—Senior-Junior Ring breakfast. Yes, we got our rings and we're proud of the sardonyx and gold that symbolizes the real meaning of our Alma Mater. We admit the event took place early in the morning, but it was one time we just couldn't wait to get up.

The question in our minds as we packed to go home was, "Where did all the time go?" We knew then that our Junior Year had been our third and our best year.

We embarked on our second glorious year at Beaver with the sudden realization that we were no longer the lowly, untouchable characters we had been, but now sophisticated sophomores. And so, in true Sophomore tradition, we bedeviled and teased the inferior freshmen, entirely forgetful of our own tortured existence only a year before.

Our curriculum this year was not exactly "apple-pie." Let's see, there was swimming, where we were forever blowing bubbles; psychology, which meant that now we could rationalize to our psychological limit; and modern dance, where we learned to throw our aging limbs around gracefully.

With song contest in the offering, we wanted to prove to the upperclassmen that any kind of "Sophomore Slump" was not in our vocabulary. Once more we marched up the aisle a hundred and twenty strong, in navy skirts and grey sweaters. There wasn't any need of bugles to convey the news that Sophs were on the way; we had the fight, and we left the gym, taking with us the laurels of the best song and the first place for the second year. The coke from the loving cup was never more potent, and our enthusiasm brimmed over for hours after.

However, we did not let this victory go to our heads. Instead, we turned out a creditable Soph Hop which really held its own. The smooth rhythm of the orchestra together with the long, frothy gowns gave the dance an atmosphere of grandeur. We felt this to be our crowning achievement.

And so, we bid farewell to the chapter of our lives entitled Sophomores of Beaver C. and looked forward to the next installment with new zest and zeal. With us, we brought a spirit that would glow ever brighter for the class of '49 in our Junior Year.

With mingled feelings of eagerness and vague apprehension, we, the Freshman Class, arrived at Beaver. That we would be a part of this wonderful college life seemed unbelievable—a dream come true!

The Student-Faculty Reception, when we met our professors and learned more about our courses, was our formal presentation to Beaver.

The Freshman Hallowe’en party for the upperclassmen went off with a bang. Everyone came, everyone ate; in short, everyone had a wonderful time.

Hazing? Yes, that dreaded word, which signified “greenie” caps, bed-making, and peculiar garbs, meant a great deal to us. It gave us a part to play at Beaver, humble though it may have been.

At Song Contest, we worked together for the first time. Although the first prize was not for us, it was an exciting and unforgettable event, and in the future, we hope to exchange our honorable mention cup for the first prize.

During our first semester, we strove tirelessly to pass exams and more exams, and to meet the critical looks of upperclassmen. Now, when we shall soon be upperclassmen too, we know that all our efforts were worth while, because we have come to feel at last that Beaver has become truly our Alma Mater.

The purpose of the Association is to further the interests of Beaver College and its alumnae; to secure unity of action in continuing the well-being of the College; and to promote the cause of higher education for women.

Any student, who is a graduate of Beaver College or Beechwood School or who has attended either institution, is eligible for membership in the Association.

Active membership is obtained by contributing to the alumnae drive for funds or by paying dues, as the case may be. Active members receive the Alumnae Journal, published four times a year. The privilege of voting is granted only to contributing or "paid-up" dues members.

The College Board of Trustees includes two alumnae who are elected by active members. A third is an honorary appointment.

The Alumnae Council, which meets at college four times annually, is composed of the officers, committee heads, presidents of the regional clubs, and class agents, who are the elected representatives of their respective classes. This group plans and directs the program of the Association.

Mrs. Charles W. Zurbuchen

The function of the Alumnae Office on campus is to maintain records and addresses of alumnae and to cooperate in promoting activities of the Association.

During normal times annual reunions (emphasizing the five-year plan) are held at college.

VACATION'S COMING BUT
Books Can Still Be Fun!

Whether for hammock relaxing, serious thinking, information or amusement, there's an outstanding selection of books for you, your parents and friends, at the Presbyterian Book Store in Philadelphia. A letter or phone call to PE 5-6722 will solve your summer reading plans if you're too rushed to visit us in person. And in the fall, when you return to Beaver, our convenient central Philadelphia location is ideal for shopping. Visit the Presbyterian Book Store soon, where our courteous and efficient staff is looking forward to serving you.

In Retrospect . . .

Day by day, each of us patterns her character, filling in the mould with vivid incidents about us, with the things we learn and with the plans we make. When we reach a milestone, we pause, look in retrospect, summarize and appraise the panorama of our lives.

How like the modern weekly newspaper are we in many respects! The Times Chronicle, one of America's outstanding weeklies, etches a sharp picture of important local events and affairs for thousands of discriminating readers in more than seventy suburban communities. To these keen minds, life without their Times Chronicle would be as impractical as character building without retrospection.
